"I don't see who is going to make war," said Baron Von Thermann.

The central powers—Germany, Austria, Bulgaria and even Hungary, have been disarmed. They can't fight and it is unthinkable that they all will fight each other."

The present near eastern situation is fraught, however with dangers, not so much to the international peace as to the economic and social welfare of Europe, declared the baron.

"But there must be settlement of it soon, so that the nations of Europe may devote themselves to the establishment of a settled peace," he said. "Just now Europe is like a house where a patient—Germany—lies ill. The roof has caught fire, and the doctors who should be caring for the patient, are up on the roof trying to extinguish the blaze. Meanwhile the patient is dying."

WATER RATE RAISED WITHOUT METERS

Property owners who have water meters will benefit over those who do not as a result of the decision reached by members of the City Commission in session Thursday night, when the minimum charge for the flat rate for three months to water users without meters of $2.42 was raised to three dollars for the quarter.

The decision was reached by the City Commission owing to the fact that property owners, who owned meters were forced to pay $2.61, a higher rate than those who were without meters, and as an incentive for all to put in the meters, the rate was raised.

The rates charged by the old water company, have prevailed since the purchase of the water company by the city, the former company not having found it necessary to have property owners install meters. The raise in rates for the property owner who has not installed a meter will lead to the meters being installed over the city, it is thought.

MISS EDWIN DENBY APPOINTED TO SUCCEED REAR ADMIRAL SIMS

Washington, Sept. 15.—Secretary Edwin Denby yesterday appointed Rear Admiral Clarence S. Williams to succeed Rear Admiral William S. Sims as President of the Naval War College at Newport, R. I.

The appointment is to be effective October 15, when Admiral Sims will be retired automatically by the age limit.

In 1910 President Taft reprimanded Sims for having declared, in a speech in Guild Hall, in London, that whenever the British Empire should become imperiled, it could count on every drop of American blood in its defense.

Rear Admiral Williams has a distinguished record. He entered the Annapolis Naval Academy from Springfield, Ohio, and he was graduated with the class of 1884. He is a former chief of staff of the Naval War College. During the war he was chief of the battleship force of the Atlantic Fleet, and for his services was awarded a distinguished service medal by Secretary Daniels.

TARIFF BILL BACK IN HOUSE; SENATE YIELDS ON ITEMS

Measure Written to Express Will of Lower Body.

Washington, Sept. 15.—The tariff bill came back to the house again today, written this time to express the will of the house.

House and senate conferees ironed out last night their differences on the chemical dyes and potash schedules, the senate yielding to the house on both items. Chairman Fordney reported the bill with a complete agreement from the conferees, and house leaders are anxious to see it passed finally by the house before the close of today's session.

Potash was put on the free list by the conferees. Provisions raising a practical embargo on certain classes of finished and intermediate chemical dyes were eliminated.

The tariff bill was not reopened by the conferees for the reconsideration of any other items in the measure, fear being entertained that any further tampering with the bill would lead to dangerous conflicts in the conference and endanger passage of the bill at this session.

Senator Gooding, leader of the senate farmer tariff bloc, announced after the result of the conference became known that the farmer bloc was behind the tariff bill squarely and would support its final passage.

SHERIFF AND POSSE ARRESTED

MORE RAILROADS SEEKING PEACE ON JEWELL PLAN

Dozen other Lines Reported Negotiating for Strike Settlement

'DIE HARD'S' FOLLOW

It is Expected That Great Western Roads Will Follow Suit

Chicago, Sept. 15.—With some of the shopmen on roads which have already made peace in the rail strike, already back at work, and with thousands of others preparing to take back their former jobs, a dozen or more railroads that have stood out against the Jewell-Willard plan of settlement were reported negotiating for peace today.

Among new roads seeking peace are understood to be the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern.

If these roads sign up, it was expected that other great western roads among the "die-hards" would fall in line and also negotiate agreements.

The Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railroad had completed plans to sign the agreement, it was announced today, while the Alabama and Vicksburg railroad, it was reported, had dropped out of the plan.

The Rock Island negotiations with the shopmen after a five hour conference were broken off. J. E. Gorham, president of the road stated "we submitted proposal, but it was rejected."

The Soo Line was negotiating for a settlement, it was reported.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul was the first road on which the men were ordered back to work. Over fifteen hundred shopmen were back at their jobs in the shops of the road here today. The Chicago and Northwestern shops were also manned by shopmen today.

On the trip over, the two men rode in the front seat and Miss Brundage was in the rear seat of the machine and asked them if she could ride with them. They told her she was going to the Dan Stewart bungalow on the Fairground road. The men were on their way to Chillicothe.

At that time Miss Brundage told the motorists she was waiting for a bus, when she saw their machine slow up in the traffic at the intersection, and asked them if she could ride with them. They told her she was going to the Dan Stewart bungalow on the Fairground road. The men were on their way to Chillicothe.

At the death of her brother, Dr. L. H. Haines, Justice of the Peace J. E. Jones examined the body at the R. M. Need undertakings establishment where it was removed from the hospital, and filled out the Coroner's report.

Miss Brundage came to this city in an automobile with Ezra Shank, 19 South Perry Street, Dayton, and N. J. Groby, 1554 West Second Street, Dayton, whom she had hailed at Huffman and Linden Avenues in Dayton, and asked for a ride to this city.

Stricken suddenly while on her way to this city in an automobile, Miss Scota Brundage, 46, of 244 Linden Avenue, Dayton, and formerly of this city, died at Espy Hospital at 7:20 o'clock Friday morning.

Miss Brundage was born in this city in 1876, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Bundage, who for many years lived on East Main Street. Two brothers, Herman and Dr. Lawrence Brundage preceded her in death, so that she was the last member of her immediate family. A cousin, Fred Marsh, lives in Harrisburg, Pa.

man who has moved from one position to another before the ball is put in play must come to a stop not only both feet stationary on the ground, but must come to a full stop so that when he started again he starts off from a standstill.

Clarification of the rule regarding taking time out was also affected by the rule makers, and the new rules provide that time taken out after the third request by a captain entails a two-yard penalty, which means that the stakes will not be moved as formerly. A penalty of 15 yards and the loss of down is attached as a stinger to the rule against interference on the defensive side on a forward pass.

Unnecessary roughness has been somewhat more clearly defined by the law-dopers and additional power put in the hands of the officials, and it was made clear that officials should be stringent in handling it. Clipping is also given a section in the rules and the declining of penalties has been made clearer. The referee in the future will select the assistants to the Head Linesman designating the men who are to carry the chains.

Thus with the exception of the rather drastic change in the play after kick-off, most of the changes have been made with a view to clarifying and simplifying the rules already in effect. In addition to giving his men the rudiments of the game, Coach Burgner must instill into them this knowledge of the new changes in the code, and with the first game to be played a week from Saturday with Greenville fans can see that he is having a busy session with his flock of gridirons. Practice sessions are beginning early and continuing late in order to condition the athletes for the season opening.

Even the veterans need a little blackboard training this year, owing to the changes in the rules made from last season, the most important of which is the introduction of the "try-for point" play after touchdown, which replaces the old place kick-stun, that has immediately succeeded the touchdown and counted one point, since the present rules were evolved.

Under the new rules the side scoring the touchdown is permitted to bring the ball out to any point not less than five yards from the goal line or to any greater distance it chooses and there a scrimmage is formed, with the scoring side in possession of the ball. The team then has permission to make any legal play from an ordinary scrimmage and endeavor to score by a place-kick, drop-kick, a run or a forward pass. Should the side by any of these means put the ball over the goal line or kick the ball properly over the posts that side is awarded the one point that originally went with the unopposed place-kick.

Immediately that the ball becomes dead after one play, whether successful or not, it is declared dead for the next kick off.

A foul on this new play by the defending side gives the side with the ball the extra point without a try and the attacking side loses its attempt for the point, if it fouls the defenders. The play was introduced in order to equalize the scoring point of teams as much as possible and take away the advantage that accrued to the eleven that was lucky enough to possess a sure place-kicker.

A new rule in relation to substitutions holds that when a player is taken out in one half he cannot return in the same half, but may be substituted into the array again in the second half, and not necessarily at the beginning of the period. The referee is also given permission by the new rules to shorten the playing time should he decide that darkness would likely interfere with the completion of the game.

The rules more clearly define this year the choice of kick-off or receiving kick-off and the rule makers have also clarified the code regarding shift plays and enforcement by officials. The latter amendment provides as formerly regarding the ordinary shifts and also provides that when a man in motion has left the scrimmage line he must be at least five yards back when the ball is put in play. It also provides that in all shift plays the

FOOTBALL SQUAD OF CENTRAL HIGH BEGINS PRACTICE

Where hordes cheered as their favorites came into the stretch during the recent Greene County Fair races, many more are expected to "mit school yell this fall as inspiration for the Central High School Football team.

For Coach Earl F. Burgner is already training his squad of more than 30 athletes for a grueling grid season, on the new gridiron in the center of the race track oval at the county fairgrounds, where the local gridders will eavor this season while workmen put the finishing touches on the new Cox Memorial Athletic Field.

The new football mentor has been aided in his initial trials this week, by the right sort of football weather, the crisp air in the late afternoons, making stiff drilling possible and giving the coach the opportunity to work out his athletes under the best possible conditions. In spite of the fact that many positions will have to be filled by green men, Burgner is pleased with the prospects and expressed the belief that the recruits will round into near veteran form when time for the first game rolls around.

Even the veterans need a little blackboard training this year, owing to the changes in the rules made from last season, the most important of which is the introduction of the "try-for point" play after touchdown, which replaces the old place kick stunt that has immediately succeeded the touchdown and counted one point, since the present rules were evolved.

Under the new rules the side scoring the touchdown is permitted to bring the ball out to any point not less than five yards from the goal line or to any greater distance it chooses and there a scrimmage is formed, with the scoring side in possession of the ball. The team then has permission to make any legal play from an ordinary scrimmage and endeavor to score by a place-kick, a drop-kick, a run or a forward pass. Should the side by any of these means put the ball over the goal line or kick the ball properly over the posts that side is awarded the one point that originally went with the unopposed place-kick.

Immediately that the ball becomes dead after one play, whether successful or not, it is declared dead for the next kick off.

A foul on this new play by the defending side gives the side with the ball the extra point without a try and the attacking side loses its attempt for the point, if it fouls the defenders. The play was introduced in order to equalize the scoring point of teams as much as possible and take away the advantage that accrued to the eleven that was lucky enough to possess a sure place-kicker.

A new rule in relation to substitutions, holds that when a player is taken out in one half he cannot return in the same half, but may be substituted into the affray again in the second half, and not necessarily at the beginning of the period. The referee is also given permission by the new rules to shorten the playing time should he decide that darkness would likely interfere with the completion of the game.

The rules more clearly define this year the choice of kick-off or receiving kick-off and the rule makers have also clarified the code regarding shift plays and enforcement by officials. The latter amendment provides as formerly regarding the ordinary shifts and also provides that when a man in motion has left the scrimmage line he must be at least five yards back when the ball is put in play. It also provides that in all shift plays the man who has moved from one position to another before the ball is put in play must come to a stop not only both feet stationary on the ground, but must come to a full stop so that when he started again he starts off from a standstill.

Clarification of the rule regarding taking time out was also affected by the rule makers, and the new rules provide that time taken out after the third request by a captain entails a two-yard penalty, which means that the stakes will not be moved as formerly. A penalty of 15 yards and the loss of down is attached as a stinger to the rule against interference with the defensive side on a forward pass.

Unnecessary roughness has been somewhat more clearly defined by the law-dopers and additional power put in the hands of the officials, and it was made clear that officials should be stringent in handling it. Clipping is also given a section in the rules and the declining of penalties has been made clearer. The referee in the future will select the assistants to the Head Linesman designating the men who are to carry the chains.

Thus with the exception of the rather drastic change in the play after kick-off, most of the changes have been made with a view to clarifying and simplifying the rules already in effect. In addition to giving his men the rudiments of the game, Coach Burgner must instill into them the knowledge of the new changes in the code, and with the first game to be played a week from Saturday he is Greenville fans can see that he is having a busy session with his flock of gridders. Practice sessions are beginning early and continuing late in order to condition the athletes for the season opening.

EVENING PARTY GIVEN FOR RECENT BRIDE

Miss Mildred Confer and Miss Pearl Haines graciously entertained at a charming evening party at the home of Miss Confer on East Market Street, Thursday, complimenting Mrs. Russell Halstead (Veta Hickman), a recent bride.

The guests of the evening numbered eighteen young women, including the members of the Delta Theta Tau Sorority, of which Mrs. Halstead is a member. The affair was arranged as a surprise on the honor guest, Mr. and Mrs. John Ray Mr. Harold Ray, Mr. Harry Reinhart, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Erynn, Mrs. W. Fletcher and daughter, Virginia Mrs. Agnes Davis, of Pittsburgh Pennsylvania, and Mr. and Mrs. Russel Hailey.

After they were received the guests were entertained with a contest "Hearts" the prize being won by Miss Corinne Welsh. A part of the evening was spent hemming dust cloths which were presented to the honor guest. Another contest, a merry feature of the evening, was won by Miss Olive Huston.

An especially pleasant feature of the evening was a miscellaneous "shower" upon Mrs. Halstead, who was called to the door to receive a large basket of gifts.

A prettily appointed two course luncheon was served by Miss Confer and Miss Haines. AUXILIARY SENDS DELEGATES TO MEET

A large number of the local members of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion were in attendance at the annual convention which was held Wednesday and Thursday in Dayton. Mrs. Walter Dean and Mrs. Clarence Denser represented the local auxiliary as delegates and Mrs. Homer Spahr and Mrs. Frank Hustmeyer were alternates.

Mrs. Thomas Maxwell, of Fremont, Ohio, wife of a former Xenian, was elected as president of the state auxiliaries for the coming year. Mrs. Maxwell is a sister-in-law of Mrs. Frank Dean and has frequently visited in this city where she is known to many people.

In accord with action taken at the convention the local auxiliary will "adopt" a ward in a military hospital and will provide the men in that ward with pajamas and other articles of clothing and with dainties of various kinds. The local auxiliary has not yet decided on what ward they will "adopt" but expect to take the matter up at their next meeting.

The auxiliary delegates were the guests of the Soldiers' Home at luncheon at the Old Barn Club and the remainder at the Country Club.

The next auxiliary convention will be held in Springfield at the same time as the American Legion Convention.

Improvements in the way of sanitary sewers and water connections will be made in the Dodds' Addition to the city of Xenia. This action was assured Thursday night when the City Commission passed the ordinance, providing for these improvements, which has lain on the table during the last two meetings. The ordinance carried unanimously.

Waited on by a score or more of lot owners in the addition, who were there to urge that the commission take the necessary steps to provide improvements in the section, which has for many years bitten like a wedge into the city, that body passed the measure with little discussion.

The passage of the ordinance followed agitation along that line for some time, the commissioners, although feeling that improvements should be made which would stimulate building in the addition, desired the full expression of opinion from property owners as to their willingness to waive the one third assessment limit, if improvements should cost more than that.

A petition presented to the commission some time ago contained the names of more than 75 per cent of the property owners willing to waive that limit. Subsequent checking up and additional signatures has revealed that all but 12 of the 87 lots are thus provided for, and some of these lots are held by persons who it is thought will be willing to sign but so far have been unable to be reached. DODDS' ADDITION IMPROVEMENTS CERTAIN AS CITY COMMISSION PASSES ORDINANCE

Improvements in the way of sanitary sewers and water connections will be made in the Dodds' Addition to the city of Xenia. This action was assured Thursday night when the City Commission passed the ordinance, providing for these improvements, which has lain on the table during the last two meetings.

Worked on by a score or more of lot owners in the addition, who were there to urge that the commission take the necessary steps to provide improvements in the section, which has for many years bitten like a wedge into the city, that body passed the measure with little discussion.

The passage of the ordinance followed agitation along that line for some time, the commissioners, although feeling that improvements should be made which would stimulate building in the addition, desired the full expression of opinion from property owners as to their willingness to waive the one third assessment limit, if improvements should cost more than that.

A petition presented to the commission some time ago contained the names of more than 75 per cent of the property owners willing to waive that limit. Subsequent checking up and additional signatures has revealed that all but 12 of the 87 lots are thus provided for, and some of these lots are held by persons, who it is thought will be signing to sign but so far have been unable to be reached. City Manager

S. O. Hale is making an effort to reach these owners so that the actual cost to the city of the improvements can be figured. Signers of the petition agree only to stand the full share of the work assessed against the lots owned by them and do not assume liability of the possible excess cost on property held by those who may refuse to sign.

Estimates prepared about two months ago on the cost of the proposed improvements run $190.82 per lot, it was brought out at the meeting Thursday night that it is pointed out would be more than one third the present value of many of the lots in the addition. However it is said, that the proposed improvements will increase the value of the lots many times.

The city's share of the cost of the improvements is two per cent of the entire expense of the work and it is estimated by city officials that Xenia would not be involved more than $600 even though it should be forced to assume the additional assessments on some of the lots.

Immediate work on the improvements cannot be started, Mr. Hale pointed out Friday morning. It will be necessary to advertise for bids on the word and it is not expected that actual work will be started before spring. It is believed that street grading will also be done and that some of the streets will be gravelled. This however, is not provided in the ordinance. Owners are permitted nine years in which to pay for the improvements.

HENRY FORD'S LATEST BLOW-OUT.

After lolling around on a pleasure yacht in the St. Lawrence for a month during the height of a great emergency in the industrial world, Henry Ford rushes out to Detroit and within a few hours announces that he is going to close his plants and throw more than a hundred thousand men out of work because he can't get coal and steel at a lower price than other people are paying while the railway strike is on. Evaluating Henry's pronouncement in the light of such utterances as his statement that he had paid his war profits into the United States Treasury, people generally have concluded that Henry wasn't so very anxious to get coal, and that what he is really doing is taking up the slack in his flivver production. If an ordinary capitalist had "fired" all his employees for such reasons and on such sudden notice, he would have been roasted by every yellow journal in the country. As it is, this type of critic will doubtless see in Henry's action the war on Wall street he says it means. It isn't often that a man wins unquestioned supremacy in two fields, but as a builder of cheap automobiles and as a bunk artist Henry Ford is without a rival living, dead or unborn.—Public Ledger.

MARKETS OF RUSSIA DRAINED OF DIAMONDS—TOO BAD.

Diamonds are in such demand among foreigners visiting Russia in search of bargains that the nearby bordering cities are being drained of stones for the Russian market, according to dealers. Merchants have been active for months in Bucharest, Vienna, Riga, Reval, Warsaw and even Berlin, and other cities, buying up the cheaper cut stones. By ingenious ways these diamonds—if some of them can be called diamonds—are sent to Moscow, and there put on the market.

Merchants contend there are probably more yellow and speckled diamonds in Moscow today than in any other city in Europe. And many of these, through speculators, came from the outside especially for the "trade." Eventually through bargain-hunting foreigners, these stones will be taken out of the country again at $150 or $200 a carat when on the open market they would not bring half that price.

WORLD CRIMINAL COURT.

The International Law association, which has been in convention at Buenos Aires favors the formation of a permanent international criminal court which should have jurisdiction in all cases involving war crimes or crimes that could cause war.

The need for some such body was painfully evident soon after the recent conflict, when it became apparent that there was no adequate method for reaching either the Kaiser or any of his underlings who were directly responsible for the war atrocities. It was because of this lack that the trials and punishment of these offenders either never took place or were travesties of justice leaving Germany in one more direction triumphant in defeat.

Aside from war crimes which require special handling, there are in peace times offenses of varying sorts tending to embroil governments with one another, which handled by an effective tribunal would receive proper individual punishment without broader consequences.

The League of Nations recognized the need for such a court and proposed measures for its formation. There is no doubt that, properly constituted and honestly supported by the nations which it represented, such a body can play an important part in world affairs and in war prevention. The pity is that with so many moves toward it, results are so slow.

THE TIN CAN TOURISTS.

A unique convention was held in Springfield, Ill., about the middle of August, when representatives of the Tin Can Tourists of the World met to form a state branch of their society.

This is not an organization of Ford owners but a society of auto-campers interested in securing and maintaining good camping conditions and habits wherever auto-touring is popular.

The society was formed about two years ago at Tampa, Fla. Its members bind themselves to the following rules: To wear the emblem of the order—a tin can worn on the front of the car; to help a fellow member when in distress on the road as much as possible without injury to self or car; to keep and leave all camp grounds clean and sanitary. The promotion of clean, wholesome entertainment at all camp fires and the fraternal union of all auto-campers are further objectives.

It is said that over 400,000 members have joined since the organization was started and the membership still grows rapidly. It is a project which should interest all persons who enjoy this mode of travel and which should meet the approval of property owners along tourist routes. The motor-camping army grows steadily. The freedom and enjoyment of the campers themselves and the welcome accorded them on their way will depend on the ideals which govern the majority.

DO YOU KNOW?

The mortgage business is one of the oldest in the world, dating back to 3000 B. C., when mortgage transactions were recorded in clay and burned to a brick for preservation.

Johnson County, Missouri, is to have one of the largest fur farms in this country, a firm of furriers having leased a farm, on which they will place between 20,000 and 30,000 black skunks.

HENRY FORD'S LATEST BLOW-OUT.

After lolling around on a pleasure yacht in the St. Lawrence for a month during the height of a great emergency in the industrial world, Henry Ford rushes out to Detroit and within a few hours announces that he is going to close his plants and throw more than a hundred thousand men out of work because he can't get coal and steel at a lower price than other people are paying while the railway strike is on. Evaluating Henry's pronouncement in the light of such utterances as his statement that he had paid his war profits into the United States Treasury, people generally have concluded that Henry wasn't so very anxious to get coal, and that what he is really doing is taking up the slack in his flivver production. If an ordinary capitalist had "fired" all his employees for such reasons and on such sudden notice, he would have been roasted by every yellow journal in the country. As it is, this type of critic will doubtless see in Henry's action the war on Wall street he says it means. It isn't often that a man wins unquestioned supremacy in two fields, but as a builder of cheap automobiles and as a bunk artist Henry Ford is without a rival living, dead or unborn.—Public Ledger.

MARKETS OF RUSSIA DRAINED OF DIAMONDS—TOO BAD.

Diamonds are in such demand among foreigners visiting Russia in search of bargains that the nearby bordering cities are being drained of stones for the Russian market, according to dealers. Merchants have been active for months in Bucharest, Vienna, Riga, Reval, Warsaw and even Berlin, and other cities, buying up the cheaper cut stones. By ingenious ways these diamonds—if some of them can be called diamonds—are sent to Moscow, and there put on the market.

Merchants contend there are probably more yellow and speckled diamonds in Moscow today than in any other city in Europe. And many of these, through speculators, came from the outside especially for the "trade." Eventually through bargain-hunting foreigners, these stones will be taken out of the country again at $150 or $200 a carat when on the open market they would not bring half that price.

WORLD CRIMINAL COURT.

The International Law association, which has been in convention at Buenos Aires favors the formation of a permanent international criminal court which should have jurisdiction in all cases involving war crimes or crimes that could cause war.

The need for some such body was painfully evident soon after the recent conflict, when it became apparent that there was no adequate method for reaching either the Kaiser or any of his underlings who were directly responsible for the war atrocities. It was because of this lack that the trials and punishment of these offenders either never took place or were travesties of justice leaving Germany in one more direction triumphant in defeat.

Aside from war crimes which require special handling, there are in peace times offenses of varying sorts tending to embroil governments with one another, which handled by an effective tribunal would receive proper individual punishment without broader consequences.

The League of Nations recognized the need for such a court and proposed measures for its formation. There is no doubt that, properly constituted and honestly supported by the nations which it represented, such a body can play an important part in world affairs and in war prevention. The pity is that with so many moves toward it, results are so slow.

THE TIN CAN TOURISTS.

A unique convention was held in Springfield, Ill., about the middle of August, when representatives of the Tin Can Tourists of the World met to form a state branch of their society.

This is not an organization of Ford owners but a society of auto-campers interested in securing and maintaining good camping conditions and habits wherever auto-touring is popular.

The society was formed about two years ago at Tampa, Fla. Its members bind themselves to the following rules: To wear the emblem of the order—a tin can worn on the front of the car; to help a fellow member when in distress on the road as much as possible without injury to self or car; to keep and leave all camp grounds clean and sanitary. The promotion of clean, wholesome entertainment at all camp fires and the fraternal union of all auto-campers are further objectives.

It is said that over 400,000 members have joined since the organization was started and the membership still grows rapidly. It is a project which should interest all persons who enjoy this mode of travel and which should meet the approval of property owners along tourist routes. The motor-camping army grows steadily. The freedom and enjoyment of the campers themselves and the welcome accorded them on their way will depend on the ideals which govern the majority.

HOG THIEVES ACTIVE

Washington, C. H. Sept. 15.—Hog thieves are at work in eastern Fayette county, and several farmers have reported the loss of several hogs each during the past few weeks.

Closer watches are being maintained by the farmers in Marion township and officials are scanning trucks and wagons more closely after nightfall with a view to picking up the offenders.

For the past two or three years reports of hog stealing within a few miles of New Holland have led to the belief that the thieves are from that town, but have escaped prosecution up to the present time.

FACE POWDERS
I once heard a discussion between two women concerning the habit of powdering the face. Both women had as nearly perfect complexions as I have ever seen, although neither of them was under 40. The elder of the two was a pronounced blonde with a skin of fine texture and without a blemish. She was deplored the fact that the present generation of young women had the habit of powdering the skin. She believed that her own well preserved skin was reward for never having used powder in her life. She argued against the use of powder as impeding the full action of the skin.

The other one smiled sweetly and replied that she had never known a jute the skin, provided only a pure article is used. One of the nicest powders that I know is the plain unscented rice powder. This is pure and very cooling to the skin, and any perfume may be added. There are very few powders any more that would be hurtful to the skin, except perhaps the powders put up in liquid form, and their injury results from a clogging up of the pores and a drying out of all the oil in the skin. The constant use of such powders would shrivel the skin and cause the face to line prematurely.

In any case, use only a little powder a mere touch over the nose, chin and cheeks, and only enough to soften and remove the shine from the skin. Any more than this is not in good taste.

Hopefully—There must be something in the cream that disagrees with your skin. I regret there is not space to print the cream formulas, but they will be mailed to you if you request them and send a stamped addressed envelope. If you feel that soaps irritate the skin try almond meal. Use this just as you would a soap sprinkled over a wet wash cloth.

BABY CLINIC HELD BY KIWANIS CLUB STARTED THURSDAY

Five babies, ranging from two months to nineteen months, received medical attention at the first of the baby clinics, sponsored by the Xenia Kiwanis Club, and conducted at the Social Service League Headquarters in the city building, Thursday.

The clinic was conducted by Mrs. Margaret Kelly, Social Service League public health nurse, assisting Dr. H. C. Messenger, local physician, who donated his services as a member of the Kiwanis Club. The treatment of the babies consisted of dressings, weighing, temperature, and giving advice to the mothers concerning the proper care and food for the children. Charts are being kept by Mrs. Kelly at the League headquarters for each separate child to show their gain resulting from the weekly clinics. The success of the first clinic was due largely to the assistance of Mrs. Carrie L. Roberson, executive secretary of the League.

The matter of the Kiwanis Club purchasing medicine for the free benefit of the poor families at the clinics will be taken up with the club members by Dr. Messenger, who has signified his intention of buying medicine himself if the club does not take action upon the matter.

The baby clinics will be held at the Social Service League every Thursday, instead of twice a week. Mrs. Kelly announced Friday, in the room especially fitted for that use by the Kiwanis Club.

The mothers and their children who attended the first clinic, and all in need of medical attention and advice in the city free of charge are urged to attend the clinic. The ages of the children included in each clinic are to range from three weeks to two years.

"OUR VALUES ALWAYS BEST"

How to Keep Down the Cost of Table Upkeep

When you're down town and want to use a telephone, come in and use ours.

If you make an appointment with a friend, just say, "I'll meet you in the cozy corner."

Come in and rest when you're tired, too. Look over the latest fashion magazines that are to be found on the table.

We want to be of service to everybody in this community, and we'll be glad to see you come in any time.

Everybody has to eat, of course. But every family doesn't pay the same prices for the same kind of groceries.

Those who pay higher prices than U-SAVE-IT prices, are paying too much to keep up their tables.

The U-SAVE-IT Store features standard brands of groceries at consistently lower prices, offering every Xenia family the opportunity to keep down its eating costs.

Add to that the standards of Cleanliness, Service and Convenience which we have brought to the merchandising of groceries, and you will understand why our business is showing a consistent and gratifying increase.

BABY CLINIC HELD BY KIWANIS CLUB STARTED THURSDAY

Five babies, ranging from two months to nineteen months, received medical attention at the first of the baby clinics, sponsored by the Xenia Kiwanis Club, and conducted at the Social Service League Headquarters in the city building, Thursday.

The clinic was conducted by Mrs. Margaret Kelly, Social Service League public health nurse, assisted by Dr. H. C. Messenger, local physician, who donated his services as a member of the Kiwanis Club. The treatment of the babies consisted of dressings, weighing, temperature, and giving advice to the mothers concerning the proper care and food for the children. Charts are being kept by Mrs. Kelly at the League headquarters for each separate child to show their gain resulting from the weekly clinics. The success of the first clinic was due largely to the assistance of Mrs. Carrie I. Robertson, executive secretary of the League.

The matter of the Kiwanis Club purchasing medicine for the free benefit of the poor families at the clinics will be taken up with the club members by Dr. Messenger, who has signified his intention of buying medicine himself if the club does not take action upon the matter.

The baby clinics will be held at the Social Service League every Thursday, instead of twice a week. Mrs. Kelly announced Friday, in the room especially fitted for that use by the Kiwanis Club.

The mothers and their children who attended the first clinic, and all in need of medical attention and advice in the city free of charge are urged to attend the clinic. The ages of the children included in each clinic are to range from three weeks to two years.

INTEREST STRONGER IN A. L. FOOTBALL TEAM THIS YEAR

The interest in the American League independent football team to be sponsored this fall by Joseph P. Lucy Post, is stronger than in previous years, is the belief of those who are doing the plan to put an independent team in the field.

The Legion Post is provided with equipment to furnish a squad of players, and has met with success in ventures into independent football. So far the management has been assured that practically every former athlete will be back in the dokeskins for the season which will open soon.

Considerable hope is also being inked on several new prospects, indications that some new stars will be developed. The Post is receiving encouragement over the fact that practically all of last year's players will be back in harness. Indications are that last year's line will be practically intact. It is believed that Horne and C. Hoag, ends; Borden, F. Borden, Milburn, Walker and Fisher tackles; B. Hoag, center, and Lynn guards, M. Tullis and homes, centers, will all be available or use this year while in the backfield the fans are hoping to find Stephens, Owens, Paul Fuller and Clark, besides the new material that may turn up.

Manager Elmer Shaffer has not yet announced when the first game will be played, but he is busy making season's bookings, with promise of some good eleves appearing here.

BY GEORGE M'MANUS

ALL FOUR MEN ARE OUT ON BOND OF $2,500 EACH

Funderburgh, Day and Burns furnished bond after Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy reduced the bond from $4,000 each as fixed by Magistrate Whiteman, to $2,500 each, on motion of attorneys for the defendants. The bond of Charles Simms, 45, colored, was also reduced by Judge Gowdy, who held that precedent in similar cases in the local court had fixed $2,500 as sufficient bond.

Funderburgh, Day and Burns were immediately released on bond furnished by Funderburgh and his wife. Officials were told that Funderburgh owns a 102-acre farm, besides city property and that he and his wife jointly own a 130-acre farm. Authorities held that the property was sufficient to cover the amounts of the bonds. Preparation for furnishing the bonds had been made by the three officers before their arraignment. Simms, who had made no preparations for bond and who had not obtained an attorney, was released on his own recognizance and given until nine o'clock Friday morning in which to furnish bond.

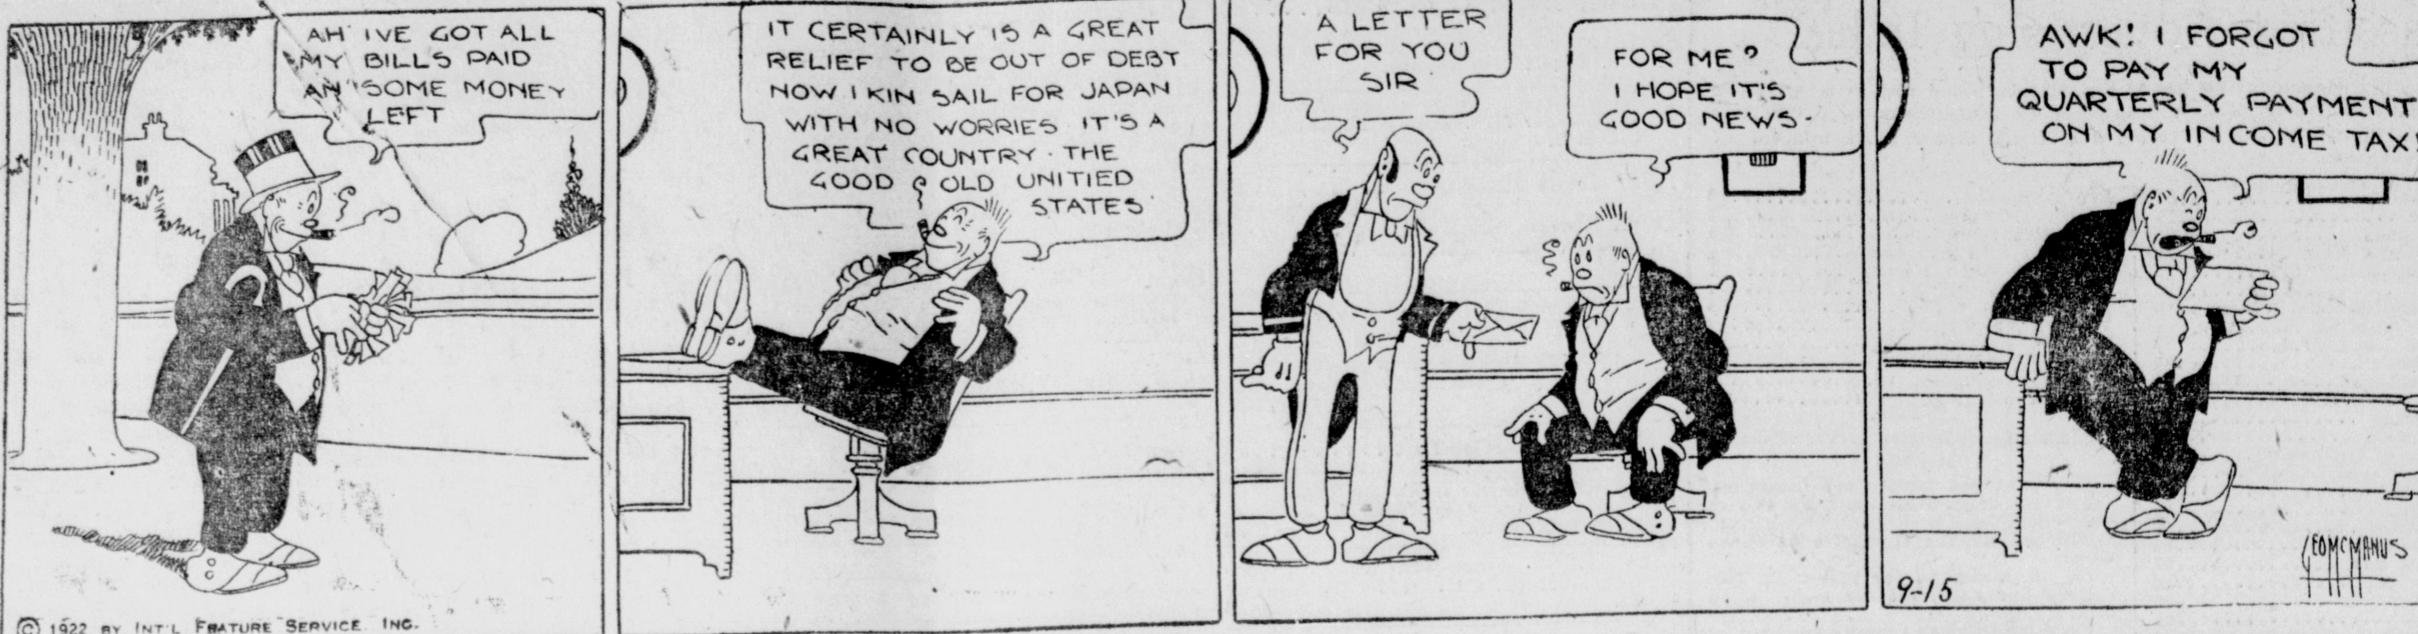

Funderburgh is still sheriff of Greene County. Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson said after the arraignment, as here is no law which provides summary removal of the sheriff, even when he is accused of crime. In this case, the Prosecutor said, the Coroner will act as sheriff in cases of summoning witnesses for the trial. Removal of the sheriff can be sought only for malfeasance or misfeasance in office, by a petition signed by 20 per cent of the electorate and filed with the Common Pleas Judge. Patrolman Charles Simms was not on duty Thursday night. He was given an indefinite leave of absence by City Manager Hale on advice of Chief of Police Graham.

Coroner R. L. Haines read his verdict, charging each of the accused men with murder in the second degree, immediately after Funderburgh, Day and Burns had been called to testify late Thursday afternoon as the last witnesses heard in the three-day inquest conducted by the Coroner. The Coroner's verdict was as follows: "Having heard the evidence, and examined the body and considered the facts and circumstances, I find that the deceased came to his death by a gun shot wound from the hands of the sheriff or members of his posse's guns, namely Sheriff Lincoln Funderburgh, Deputy Joseph Day, William Burns and Officer Charles Simms. Furthermore the evidence indicates that said Volney Nichols came to his death unlawfully, being murdered in the second degree by guns in the hands of Sheriff Lincoln Funderburgh, Deputy Joseph Day, William Burns and Officer Charles Simms. Therefore I, R. L. Haines, Coroner of Greene County, do charge above named officers with murder in the second degree and submit the finding to the Prosecutor of Greene County, namely, J. K. Williamson."

Although they had previously made known, that on the advice of counsel they would refuse to testify at the inquest, Funderburgh, Day and Burns were all three placed on the stand one at a time and questioned by Attorney Con Mattern, Dayton, counsel for the parents of the boys involved in the shooting. Sheriff Funderburgh was the first to take the stand. He was sworn in by the Coroner, gave his name, age and length of service as sheriff. Attorney Harry D. Smith, member of his counsel, then reminded the witness that he had been advised to exercise his constitutional rights and not to testify.

Mattern then began interrogating the officer: "Were you in Squire Jones' office in the evening of September 5?" he said. The sheriff replied: "I refuse to answer any further questions." "Did you have a conversation with a young man and woman by the names of Miss Roma Humphrey and Harold Moore, on the street in front of Jones' office, they being in an automobile, on the night of September 5, between eight and nine o'clock?" inquired Mattern. "I home?" "Do you know there is lying now in the hospital, another Nichols boy, one bullet in his shoulder and another wound clear through his body, going in at the back and coming out the front?" "Do you read the papers?" "Have you read anything in the papers of the shooting affair September 5?" "Do you know right now there is a boy named Middleton lying in the hospital with a wounded arm, the result of a gun shot?" "Do you know from any source that those boys are at the hospital?" "Do you know the Coroner is conducting an inquest to ascertain the fact as to how this boy came to his death?" Day answered, "I refuse to answer."

The attorney quizzed him as follows: "Were you out on the Wilmington pike on the evening or night of September 5, about nine o'clock when a boy named Volney Nichols was killed. "Did you own a rifle on the night of September 5?" "Had you borrowed a rifle on the night of September 5?" "Did you have in your possession at that time or after the shooting, a rifle?" Day answered, "I refuse to answer."

William Burns was called next.

He admitted in the introductory testimony that he knew Funderburgh three years, and Day the same length of time, and that he had been in the travelling show business for 20 years. "Where were you September 5?" inquired the attorney. Burns replied, "I refuse to answer." "Why, you weren't out committing any crime, were you?" "Did you go with Funderburgh, Day and Simms in an automobile three or four miles out the Wilmington pike to a place near the Rufus Glass house?" "Do you remember what kind of a night September 5 was?" "Do you remember what kind of a car the Sheriff drove?" "Did you know yourself, and three other men in your party, stopped near the Glass home, that the colored man attempted to pick up a tire, that some boys jumped up and laughed and that you fired upon them?" "You didn't fire any shots?" "Funderburgh didn't fire any shots?" "Simms didn't fire any shots?" "Do you own a revolver?" "Did you have one about your person that night?" "What time of day did you come to Xenia?" "Were you in Xenia?" "Did you know a boy had been killed by your party when you fired those shots?" "Will you know it now?" "Don't you read the papers?" "Can you read?" "Never heard or read of a boy named Volney Nichols being killed any time on the night of September 5?" "Have you talked to Funderburgh since?" "Have you seen him?" "Were you in his office a few minutes ago?" "Did your counsel, as was his right, have a conference with you before you came in here?" Burns replied "I refuse to answer" to all of these questions.

Deputy Sheriff Joseph Day was the second witness. He said he had been deputy sheriff nearly two years, during which time Funderburgh was Sheriff, that he knew Burns a year or so and had known Simms 20 years or more. Then the attorney began his questioning. "Did you see Burns anytime September 5?" "That wouldn't incriminate you would it?" "Did you see Mr. Simms?" "Did you see Funderburgh?" "As deputy sheriff do you have a revolver?" "On September 5, between eight and nine o'clock in the evening, did you and the Sheriff and Burns and Simms go out to the Wilmington pike, three or four miles, in an automobile and when you arrived opposite the place of Rufus Glass you stopped and one fellow attempted to pick up a tire in the road and some boys jumped up, and shots were fired by some of your party at those boys?" "Did you have a revolver of your own or anybody else's?" "Did you shoot a revolver or any other firearms?" "Did you go to Simms' house the next day or shortly afterward and say to Simms that you Simms, fired the first shot?" "What kind of a shell is this?" said the attorney picking up one of the shells offered in evidence. "I don't know," replied Day. "You don't have a gun that shot that kind of a shell?" Day answered, "I refuse to answer." "Do you know now that a boy named Volney Nichols was shot and killed at a lumber pile

"Eight years of stomach and liver trouble reduced me to a walking skeleton. My skin was dried up and as yellow as a twenty-dollar gold piece. I was filled with gas and had severe pains in my right side. I could not think and had lost all ambition to do anything. Doctors' medicine did not touch me. My cousin advised Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which snatched me from the grave. I have gained sixty pounds, eat like a hired man and am looking 'em over again.' It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sayre & Hemphill and druggists everywhere."

Syrup Pepsin Helps Nature Give Relief

Try it when a laxative is needed and see the wonderful results

IT is not necessary to take a violent physic for so simple an ailment as constipation. Yet many thoughtful parents give mercury in the form of calomel, and coal-tar in the form of phenol when a natural vegetable compound like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will do the work equally well and without danger. People should realize that mercury may salivate and in certain conditions loosen the teeth; that phenolphthalein, by whatever name known and however disguised in candy, may cause dermatitis and other skin eruptions; that salt waters and powders may concentrate the blood, dry up the skin and cause lassitude.

You can take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin yourself or give it to a babe in arms, as thousands of mothers do every day, with the confidence that it is the safest and best medicine you can use for constipation and such complaints. A teaspoonful will relieve you over night even if the constipation has been chronic for

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE
Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can take when necessary?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate trial. Send a post card to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

years. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatic, and does not cramp or gripe. Every druggist handles it, and bottles are so generous that the cost amounts to only about a cent a dose. You buy it with the understanding that if it does not do as claimed your money will be refunded. The names of all the ingredients are on the package.

Mr. A. Arceano of Orange, Texas, suffered from constipation for six years and found no relief until she took Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin; and Mrs. Gus Anderson of Ball, Kan., corrected her bowel trouble so that she now eats and sleeps normally. Bring a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin into your own home and let the family use it for constipation, biliousness, wind, gas, headaches, flatulence, and to break up fevers and colds.

NELLIE TAKES STOCK OF HER BEAUTY

Chapter 71

Nellie had taken a book Donald Horne recommended to the office. She was now studying evenings or reading aloud with Mrs. Roberts. The old lady encouraged her to extend her reading, to seriously study to improve herself. When Mr. Fallon saw her reading during lunch hour he said:

"Your story must be very interesting," Miss Neile.

She is very smart and educated, and explains things to me as we go along. You see, I'm pretty shy on education and I do so want to learn things." She stopped, embarrassed. She had not meant to say so much.

"I think not, why should he be?"

"Then you don't care for him?"

"Mercy, no!" Nellie spoke emphatically they both laughed. Then she added: "He's awfully nice and kind but that's all."

There flashed a look into Fallon's eyes, gone in a second, but it was a look that made Nellie's breath come faster. She dropped her eyes upon her work and did not again look up. Was it possible that George Fallon cared anything about her? Or who she loved. If he didn't, what did that look mean? His questions?

But Nellie did not long allow herself to speculate in this way. He would probably ask any employee the same questions. ALL FOUR MEN
ARE OUT ON BOND
OF $2,500 EACH

Funderburgh, Day and Burns furnished bond after Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy reduced the bond from $4,000 each as fixed by Magistrate Whiteman, to $2,500 each, on motion of attorneys for the defendants. The bond of Charles Simms, 45, colored, was also reduced by Judge Gowdy, who held that precedent in similar cases in the local court had fixed $2,500 as sufficient bond.

Funderburgh, Day and Burns were immediately released on bond furnished by Funderburgh and his wife. Officials were told that Funderburgh owns a 102-acre farm, besides city property and that he and his wife jointly own a 130 acre farm. Authorities held that the property was sufficient to cover the amounts of the bonds. Preparation for furnishing the bonds had been made by the three officers before their arraignment. Simms, who had made no preparations for bond and who had not obtained an attorney, was released on his own recognizance and given until nine o'clock Friday morning in which to furnish bond.

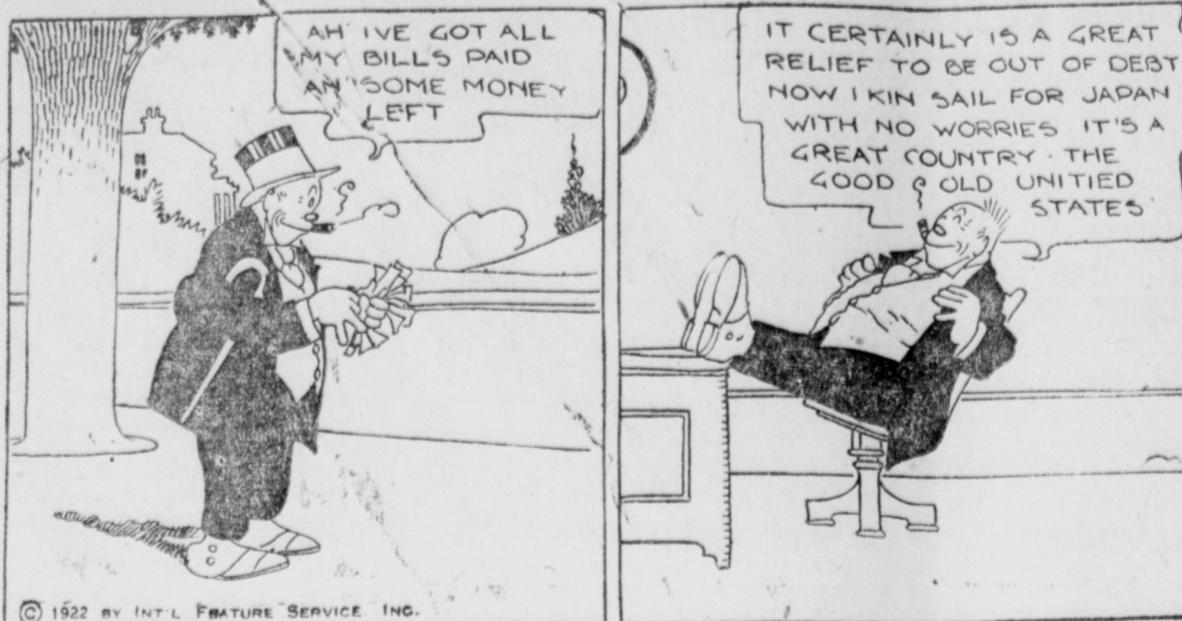

Funderburgh is still sheriff of Greene County. Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson said after the arraignment, as there is no law which provides summary removal of the sheriff, even when he is accused of crime. In this case, the Prosecutor said, the Coroner will act as sheriff in cases of summoning witnesses for the trial. Removal of the sheriff can be sought only for malfeasance or misfeasance in office, by a petition signed by 20 per cent of the electorate and filed with the Common Pleas Judge. Patrolman Charles Simms was not on duty Thursday night. He was given an indefinite leave of absence by City Manager Hale on advice of Chief of Police Gralow.

Coroner R. L. Haines read his verdict, charging each of the accused men with murder in the second degree, immediately after Funderburgh, Day and Burns had been called to testify late Thursday afternoon as the last witnesses heard in the three-day inquest conducted by the Coroner. The Coroner's verdict was as follows: "Having heard the evidence, and examined the body and considered the facts and circumstances, I find that the deceased came to his death by a gun shot wound from the hands of the sheriff or members of his posse's guns, namely Sheriff Lincoln Funderburgh, Deputy Joseph Day, William Burns and Officer Charles Simms. Furthermore the evidence indicates that said Volney Nichols came to his death unlawfully, being murdered in the second degree by guns in the hands of Sheriff Lincoln Funderburgh, Deputy Joseph Day, William Burns and Officer Charles Simms. Therefore I, R. L. Haines, Coroner of Greene County, do charge above named officers with murder in the second degree and submit the finding to the Prosecutor of Greene County, namely, J. K. Williamson."

Although they had previously made known, that on the advice of counsel they would refuse to testify at the inquest, Funderburgh, Day and Burns were all three placed on the stand one at a time and questioned by Attorney Con Mattern, Dayton, counsel for the parents of the boys involved in the shooting. Sheriff Funderburgh was the first to take the stand. He was sworn in by the Coroner, gave his name, age and length of service as sheriff. Attorney Harry D. Smith, member of his counsel, then reminded the witness that he had been advised to exercise his constitutional rights and not to testify.

Mattern then began interrogating the officer: "Were you in Square Jones' office in the evening of September 5?" he said. The sheriff replied: "I refuse to answer any further questions." "Did you have a conversation with a young man and woman by the name of Miss Roma Humphrey and Harold Moore, on the street in front of Jones' office, they being in an automobile, on the night of September 5, between eight and nine o'clock?" inquired Mattern. "I'm not here to refuse to answer any more questions," said the Sheriff. "Well, you will answer," replied Mattern. "You're not dealing with a bunch of boys now." On advice of his counsel Funderburgh answered all further questions with the statement, "I refuse to answer."

The attorney quizzed him as follows: "Were you out on the Wilmington pike on the evening or night of September 5, about nine o'clock when a boy named Volney Nichols was killed? Did you own a rifle on the night of September 5?" "Had you borrowed a rifle on the night of September 5?" "Did you have in your possession at that time or after the shooting, a rifle?" "Did you fire any shots on the night of September 5 at any person?" "Were you present at any time when any shots were fired?" "Do you know Joseph Day?" "Do you know William Burns?" "Do you know Simms, the colored policeman?" "Did you see them on the night of September 5?" "Did you refuse to answer for fear it will incriminate you?" "Did you fire any shots on the night of September 5?" "Were you at the Espy Hospital?" "Did you take any wounded boys to the hospital?" "Did you know there was a boy lying dead at the scene of the shooting?" "I show you these shells, marked Exhibit D. Do you know what kind of shells they are?" "Would your gun fire a shell like that?" "Did you have one?" "Did you fire a rifle that night?" "Did you go out looking for highwaymen?" "Did you in any manner have anything to do with or were you present at the scene when Volney Nichols was killed, his brother shot in the back, a boy named Middleton had his left arm shattered by a gun shot?" To each of these questions the Sheriff answered, "I refuse to answer."

Deputy Sheriff Joseph Day was the second witness. He said he had been a deputy sheriff nearly two years, during which time Funderburgh was Sheriff, that he knew Burns a year or so and had known Simms 20 years or more. Then the attorney began his questioning. "Did you see Burns anytime September 5?" "That wouldn't incriminate you would it?" "Did you see Mr. Simms?" "Did you see Funderburgh?" "As deputy sheriff do you have a revolver?" "On September 5, between eight and nine o'clock in the evening, did you and the Sheriff and Burns and Simms go out to the Wilmington pike, three or four miles, in an automobile and when you arrived opposite the place of Rufus Glass you stopped and one fellow attempted to pick up a tire in the road and some boys jumped up, and shots were fired by some of your party at those boys?" "Did you have a revolver of your own or anybody else's?" "Did you shoot a revolver or any other firearms?" "Did you go to Simms' house the next day or shortly afterward and say to Simms that you, Simms, fired the first shot?" "What kind of a shell is this?" said the attorney picking up one of the shells offered in evidence. "I don't know," replied Day. "You don't have a gun that shot that kind of a shell?" Day answered, "I refuse to answer." "Do you know now that a boy named Volney Nichols was shot and killed at a lumber pile clients, waived the reading of the affidavit, waived the preliminary hearing and entered pleas of not guilty. He suggested that the bonds be fixed at $3,000 apiece. Attorney Mattern suggested that they be made $5,000 apiece and the Magistrate then fixed them at $4,000. Simms was brought in later, waived examination and was bound over under the same bond. When Judge Gowdy reduced the bonds of Funderburgh, Day and Burns he also reduced that of Simms.

William Burns was called next. He admitted in the introductory testimony that he knew Funderburgh three years, and Day the same length of time, and that he had been in the travelling show business for 20 years. "Where were you September 5?" inquired the attorney. Burns replied, "I refuse to answer." "Why, you weren't out committing any crime, were you?" "Did you go with Funderburgh, Day and Simms in an automobile three or four miles out the Wilmington pike to a place near the Rufus Glass house?" "Do you remember what kind of a night September 5 was?" "Did you remember what kind of a car the Sheriff drove?"

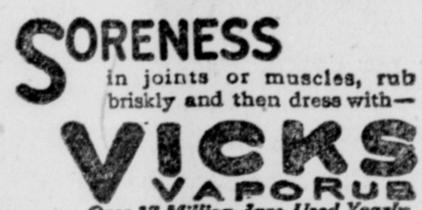

"Did you know you yourself, and three other men in your party, stopped near the Glass home, that the colored man attempted to pick up a tire, that some boys jumped up and laughed and that you fired upon them?" "You didn't fire any shots?" "Funderburgh didn't fire any shots?" "Simms didn't fire any shots?" "Do you own a revolver?" "Did you have one about your person that night?" "What time of day did you come to Xenia?" "Were you in Xenia?" "Did you know a boy had been killed by your party when you fired those shots?" "Will you know it now?" "Don't you read the papers?" "Can you read?" "You never heard or read of a boy named Volney Nichols being killed any time on the night of September 5?" "Have you talked to Funderburgh since?" "Have you seen him?" "Were you in his office a few minutes ago?" "Did your counsel, as was his right, have a conference with you before you came in here?" Burns replied "I refuse to answer" to all of these questions.

Immediately after he had left the room, Coroner Haines read his verdict and Prosecutor Williamson presented the affidavits which he had prepared. The three accused men were returned to the room, and Justice of the Peace Whiteman came in, the three men being placed officially under arrest by the Coroner. Arraigned before the Squire, Attorney H. D. Smith, speaking for his three

Try it when a Laxative is needed and see the wonderful results!

IT is not necessary to take a violent physic for so simple an ailment as constipation. Yet many thoughtless parents give mercury in the form of calomel, and coal-tar in the form of phenol when a natural vegetable compound like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will do the work equally well and without danger. People should realize that mercury may salivate and in certain conditions loose the teeth; that phenolphthalein, by whatever name known and however disguised in candy, may cause dermatitis and other skin eruptions; that salt waters and powders may concentrate the blood, dry up the skin and cause lassitude.

You can take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin yourself or give it to a babe in arms, as thousands of mothers do every day, with the confidence that it is the safest and best medicine you can use for constipation and such complaints. A teaspoonful will relieve you over night even if the constipation has been chronic for

Chapter 71

Nellie had taken a book Donald Horne recommended to the office. She was now studying evenings or reading aloud with Mrs. Roberts. The old lady encouraged her to extend her reading, to seriously study to improve herself. When Mr. Fallon saw her reading during lunch hour he said:

"Your story must be very interesting," Miss Nellie.

Not so very. The book was recommended by a young man who lives at Mrs. Doty's. I'm so busy evenings so I brought it down to read lunch-on time."

"Too busy evenings to read! You must be very popular." The tone was light, but Nellie thought he detected a shadow on his face, a disapproving look in his eyes.

"I'm not so popular as all that, although I do have some invitations to go out. But Mrs. Roberts, a dear old lady living at the house, and I read together almost every evening. Mr. Fallon smiled. His knowledge of reporters was a bit wider than Nellie's. Again he queried:

"Is it the young man who takes you out?"

"Yes, occasionally. He has taken me to the theater a few times and to motion picture shows." Nellie did not think it necessary to add that she might have gone far more often had she not refused his invitations.

SEEK TO STRIP LABOR BOARD OF ITS AUTHORITY

Would Take Away All Executive Powers of That Body

FIGHT WILL BE MADE
Congress to Be Scene of Battle Ground When it Convenes.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Congress, when it reconvenes, will be the battle ground for three major legislative offensives aimed at stripping the Railroad Labor Board of all executive powers, it was learned today.

Representatives of agricultural interests will join with organized labor and railroad executives in seeking to deal a death blow to the board's arbitrary powers over rail transportation. Their cause will also be supported by some administration leaders as evidenced by Secretary of Labor Davis speech Saturday night in which he openly advocated the abolition of the board.

If this offensive meets with opposition from President Harding, it was reported a compromise might be reached to amend the transportation act in such a way as to leave the board a mere advisory tribunal or conciliatory body. The agricultural interests, however, will insist its present powers be greatly limited whether this position meets with administration opposition or not.

Friends of the board will make a determined effort to give it wider authority and to arm it with executive powers to enforce decisions. This group, led by Senator Cummins, Republican of Iowa, believes the board's lack of authority to compel obedience to its decisions has caused whatever opposition exists.

They will attempt to amend the transportation act by inserting an anti-strike clause to be used in compelling organized labor to accept the board's wage decisions. To give the board authority to make the roads obey its decisions congress will be asked to give it authority to issue fines against offending carriers or executives.

The position of President Harding has not been made known yet though he undoubtedly will favor some changes in the existing law to prevent a recurrence of the rail tie ups of the past summer. Should the president favor Cummins' plans, congress will be the scene of a bitter fight this winter which may threaten the enactment of all other legislation.

TURKISH TROOPS CROSS INTO EUROPE FOR POLICE DUTY

Twenty Five Hundred In Eastern Thrace Under Allied Watch

Constantinople, Oct. 16.—Twenty five hundred Turkish gendarmes crossed into Europe today for police duty in eastern Thrace under allied supervision.

Unconfirmed reports have been received here of massacres of Greeks and Armenian Christians by Turks at Ezine, 26 miles south of Chanak. These reports are discredited here as it had previously been announced that all the Greeks were out of Anatolia and Ezine lies in the northwestern corner of Anatolia. Evacuation of 400,000 Greeks from eastern Thrace is under way amidst great confusion. Railway stations and docks are besieged with Greek men, women and children seeking places on trains and boats. They are carrying with them such personal effects as they can, but most of their belongings have been left behind.

Turkish troops are reported to have destroyed the town of Kili, in the neutral zone, inhabited by Greeks. Many Greeks are said to have been killed and others, including women, were carried off. The Greeks claim this destruction was the work of genocidal bound for Thrace.

GREAT BRITAIN PAYS U. S. FIFTY MILLIONS AS INTEREST ON DEBT

Transaction Represents First Payment by Any of the Allied Powers Upon War Loans of Approximately Ten Billions.

London, Oct. 16.—The first payment by any of the allied powers upon war loans of approximately $10,600,000,000 advanced by the United States is to be made by Great Britain today when the treasury department turns over $50,000,000 to the American government through J. P. Morgan and Company at New York, American fiscal agent of the British government.

This is an installment upon over-due interest upon the $4,277,000,000 lent by the United States to Great Britain in war-time loans and credits. It is believed by British officials that the beginning of interest payments will go far towards unsharpening the inter-allied debt tangle. Payments are to be made at intervals of six months.

The check is drawn against the British government's account with J. P. Morgan and Company in favor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

While the actual date was Sunday, October 15, it was decided to make the payment today instead of Saturday because Saturday is a "short" finance and market day. The British government's credit with J. P. Morgan and Company consists of gold shipments, bonds and American dollars which the treasury department has been buying in large quantities for some months past. The check is payable through the Federal Reserve Bank of New York to the general account of the United States treasury in American dollars, not in British pounds sterling.

It is believed here that the beginning of interest payments by England will have a good effect upon the British pound sterling on the exchange market.

Great Britain will not commence payments upon the principal sum of the debt until after funding arrangements have been completed at Washington between the British debt funding commission headed by Sir Robert Horne, chancellor of the exchequer, and the American debt funding commission.

An appropriation of approximately $125,000,000 for payment of interest on the American debt had been made in the British budget so there is still a residue of $35,000,000 available for the second interest payment in April.

In government circles, there was a feeling of high satisfaction over today's payment, as it shows Great Britain is determined to make good her oft-repeated promise that "England always pays her debts."

In financial and business circles there is equal satisfaction but for a different reason. It is felt that the additions to the already over-wieldy gold surplus of the United States will hurt her trade and rebound to the advantage of the British trade.

But while officials are gratified the same cannot be said of "the man in the street." The tax payer does not want to see gold flowing away from England. The present rate of income tax is $1.25 on every $5 earned and with England paying off her debt there is little likelihood of the tax being reduced. In fact the tax may be increased.

OHIO HOMES WOULD BECOME SALOONS IF PROPOSAL PASSES

Wheeler Says Beer Amendment Will Precipitate
Lawlessness.

Columbus, Oct. 16.—That thousands of homes in Ohio would be turned into saloons and that all kinds of lawlessness would be encouraged if the proposed beer-light wines amendment to the state constitution is adopted are claims made by Attorney Wayne B. Wheeler. Washington, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League of America, addressing a meeting of men at the Broad Street Presbyterian Church here,

Adoption of this proposal would fill the streets with bottles and drunks and make impossible seizure of rum running automobiles without a search warrant, Attorney Wheeler continued.

"This amendment would destroy the state law enforcement machinery for a time, at least, and if upheld by the courts, in part or in toto, would hamstring law enforcement in the state," declared Wheeler. "It is admitted by the wet organization it is an effort to get back to the old time beer."

TO TAKE LEGAL STEPS AGAINST SECRET BODY

Cleveland, Oct. 16.—Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton, of Cuyahoga County, and Prosecutor O. C. Park, of Geauga County, will confer here tomorrow upon legal steps to be taken against members of a secret organization believed to have been the Ku Klux Klan which late Saturday held up a number of passers by a lonely road near Chagrin Falls and held four men prisoners for several hours. Passing autolists were questioned as to their political and religious beliefs, according to reports received by Stanton, and several of them were ordered to turn back.

OTTO J. RENNER DIES IN CINCINNATI SUNDAY

Cincinnati, Oct. 16.—Otto J. Renner, 51, former assistant attorney general of the United States and trustee of the University of Cincinnati, died here in a hospital early Sunday morning after an illness extending over six months. Hope was expressed for his complete recovery as the result of an operation last August at Rochester, Minn., but complications developed three weeks ago which proved fatal. Mr. Renner was an early defender of the pure food laws of the country, having charge of cases to support their validity while he was assistant to the attorney general.

When a body was found floating in the waters off Grier Rock, Gloucester, Mass., two friends identified it as that of Lady Catherine Hamilton, an English woman whose husband and son were killed in World War and who had been visiting the home of Mrs. Betsy Edmunds, at Rockport, a Gloucester suburb. She had left to be away one day, but had been missing two weeks. However, when she read of her death, Lady Catherine telephoned from Providence that the report was "greatly exaggerated," quoting Mark Twain's famous retort: "The body has not been identified."

MASTER PRINTERS OF COUNTRY MEET

Cleveland, Oct. 16.—More than two thousand master printers of the United States were assembling here today for the 36th annual convention of the United Typothetae of America which opens at the hotel Cleveland Sessions will continue until Friday.

Early arrivals included J. Linton Engle of Philadelphia, the president of the organizations; J. Clark Acton, first vice-president and Edward T. Miller, Chicago, secretary.

Unified action by members of the association will be sought on the labor question, which is the most important scheduled for discussion.

Passengers of Ill Fated Vessel Brought Ashore

Over 250 Survivors of Liner City of Honolulu Disembark at Wilmington, Cal.—Newspaper Man Gets Interview With Megaphone.

Wilmington, Cal., Oct. 16.—Salvaged voyagers of the sea, the 74 passengers and 186 of the crew of the burned Los Angeles-Hawaiian liner City of Honolulu disembarked here today from the U. S. army transport Thomas.

The passengers were in a happy mood when they walked down the gangplank even though some were clad in parts of clothing hastily snatched when the fire call sounded aboard the liner early last Thursday morning when the Los Angeles bound vessel was 670 miles from its destination.

Vivid word pictures were graphically painted of the hours of peril. Paradoxically though—and an eloquent tribute to the marvels of the radio no longer did the full horror of being victims of a sea tragedy dawn on the passengers than they realized they were saved.

Although the transport Thomas arrived off the San Pedro breakwater at 11:30 o'clock Sunday night, the passengers were held in quarantine until this morning, the customs service of the Thomas went to see in a water taxi and while the big steamer was breasting a rough sea in the Santa Barbara channel, he obtained a complete interview through a megaphone with the rescued passengers.

Say a good word for Captain Lester, the telephone girl, and the crew of the City of Honolulu," called a man who, from his nondescript attire which looked as though he had been outfitted from the transport's "stop chest." Then from the fragmentary narratives called through the ship's megaphone, which follows, is the story of the trip and about the fire which broke out on the City of Honolulu.

The vessel was half way to her home port, approximately 670 miles. Wisps of smoke were discovered issuing from beneath hatch No. 6. This was at 4 o'clock Thursday morning. Ordinarily a cargo fire is not considered especially dangerous, many vessels coming into port with smoking cargoes or coal bunkers.

Captain H. R. Lester immediately summoned the full crew and ordered water pumped into the hold. So rapidly did the fire spread, however, that Captain Lester instructed Betty Stanhope, to telephone all passengers to assemble on deck immediately for practice fire drill. This forethought of the captain, passengers said undoubtedly allayed fear and prevented what otherwise might have developed into a fatal panic.

Most of the passengers, men and women, came laughing to the main saloon amused at the odd sort of kilimons, bath robes, pajamas and night robes suddenly put on display. Shortly, it was dawned on the sleepy that the fire drill was a grim reality.

The ship's orchestra began to play. The air was "Three O'clock in the Morning." This familiar and tuneful air calmed any tendency at nervousness. Partners paired off to dance. Then the ship listed and the order came at 9 o'clock to take to the boats.

It was all done calmly and the 14 boat loads faced their vigil until rescue came with the same fortitude they displayed on learning of the fire.

SOLDIER BONUS FIGHT IS JUST GETTING START

American Legion Commander Opens Annual Convention

RAPS ADMINISTRATION

Scathing Attack Made On Government's Care of Disabled Veterans.

New Orleans, Oct. 16.—While his "buddies" shouted and stamped their approval, Retiring National Commander Hanford MacNider opened the fourth annual convention of the American Legion here today with the militant declaration that the soldiers' bonus fight has only just begun.

From out of the long, hard battle he and his aides directed unsuccessfully to put the "adjusted compensation" bill over the top at Washington MacNider asserted that "no one man, untouched by war, without kin to those who served, no one group, financial or otherwise can stand between the wishes of the American people and the fulfillment of what they believe to be a just obligation."

He made no direct reference to the veto by President Harding of the McCumber-Fordney bonus measure nor to the little group of senators who sustained the veto but he left no doubt as to whom he referred as he carefully aimed each of his barbed verbal shafts at the opponents of adjusted compensation" for the nation's ex-service men.

"A great, well financed attack by interests which we can no help but feel are sordid and selfish has given us one little set back but those who represent the people at Washington are with us by great majorities," MacNider added as he dwelt upon the passage of the McCumber-Fordney bill by a vote of 33 to 70 in the house and 47 to 22 in the senate.

Upon the scathing condemnation of the national government's care of sick and disabled world war veterans and the biting criticisms of President Harding and his personal physician, Brig. Gen. Charles E. Sawyer, chief coordinator of the federal board of hospitalization, contained in the 158 page report made public previously by A. A. Sprague of Chicago, chairman of the legion's national rehabilitation committee, MacNider stamped his unqualified approval.

"The committee," MacNider said, "forms a permanent foundation for all our future work for the disabled men. What is more it means that the government is set back but those who represent the people at Washington are with us by great majorities," MacNider added as he dwelt upon the passage of the McCumber-Fordney bill by a vote of 33 to 70 in the house and 47 to 22 in the senate.

"The legion has taken its place on a national institution," he declared at the outset of his carefully prepared address. "It is recognized as the voice of the American men and women who served with the colors during the great war. All America realizes that it is a great, growing and dominant force in the nation's existence. No man can stop it but it must be our duty to so build it that its tremendous power and possibilities may be directed so it shall be as it was dedicated—to our God and our country."

Secretary Mellon was sharply criticized in the report of the legion's national legislative committee for his opposition to the soldier's bonus.

"Instead of the $24,000,000 deficit he predicted on Jan. 24, the government showed a surplus of $313,000,000 at the close of the fiscal year, June 30 last.

"This was an error of $337,000,000 on five months calculation, a sum sufficient to pay the first three years of the compensation bill.

Styles BY LENORE

After adventuring off in all sorts of directions sleeves have at last decided to take their normal place in the world of dress. Which is to say that sleeves this season really cover the arm, instead of wandering off into aimless draperies or being reduced to ribbons.

Health is Happiness

HOME MADE TOILET WATER

Use any essence desired, oil or lavender of rose for instance. About 25 drops will perfume five pints of water. Into each one or two half gallon jars put a funnel lined with filter paper with a bunch of cotton at the bottom. On top of this cotton put some finely powdered magnesia over which has been poured the perfume essence. It should be divided and half the quantity put into each jar. Pour into each jar some rainwater or ordinary boiled water. This will filter through the cotton, paper and magnesia and make a soft toilet water with a delightful fragrance.

JASMINE TOILET WATER

To make a gallon, take a quart of spirits of cologne and put it into a gallon jug. Add half an ounce of oil of jasmine. Let stand two weeks. Fill with the best alcohol and let it stand two weeks or more.

LAVENDER TOILET WATER

Steep handful of lavender flowers in white wine vinegar, keeping the jar in a warm place on the back of the stove for three days, after which strain and bottle.

SOAP JELLY FOR SHAMPOO

Make a jelly by dissolving a large cake of green castile soap or any pure soap in a quart of boiling water. This will keep and can be used from time to time. Wet the hair with warm water, take two tablespoonsfuls of the jelly with a little soap if desired and rub thoroughly into the hair and well into the scalp. Rinse well, using colder and colder water, and dry in the open air if possible.

A MUSTARD BATH

is unusually refreshing. One tablespoonful dry mustard in a bathtub of warm water will rest tired and aching muscles and leave a pleasant glow.

What Do I Know About Trusses?

Did You Ever Ask Yourself That Question When You Go to Buy a Truss?

When you are sick you describe your ailments to your doctor and he gives you what he thinks is the best for your case. You do not tell him what treatments you want.

It is just as important to have the proper truss, correctly fitted for your special case as it is to have the right treatments for your other ailments.

After I see the nature of your rupture then I know what appliances are necessary to hold your rupture IN, not just UP.

You will never cure yourself of rupture by wearing your truss to just hold your rupture up. Most people do not even know where they are ruptured, but only wear the truss where they SEE the enlargements, and that is where they are wrong.

In most cases one truss ought to cure a rupture, when FITTED BY one who knows HOW.

I fit men, women, children and babies.

I will be fitting trusses and other surgical appliances at the Regal Hotel, Wednesday, October 18, from 1 to 5 p. m. Will have lady assistant with me.

Trusses for every kind of rupture, abdominal supporters, maternity belts, reducing supporters, elastic hosiery.

The Success of This Not Guaranteed

FIND REFUGE IN UNITED STATES

New York, Oct. 16.—Thousands of Jews from war-torn Europe, deprived of opportunity in their native lands, annually are finding heaven in the United States through the assistance of the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society of America.

"Hias" is not dedicated, however, to the indiscriminate importation of Jews unable to "make good" at home.

The organization probably advises as many Jews to stay where they are as it helps to come to America.

If a Jew lives in Palestine "Hias" concludes that he is better off in the homeland.

If he is too old to break away from the lifelong ties he is told he had better not come to America to start life anew.

If he is mentally or physically defective "Hias" discovers that fact before he crosses the ocean. There are some of the reasons why out of 190,000 Jewish immigrants who come to the United States between Jan. 1920, and June 30, 1922, only 711 were turned back.

"Hias" is practicing "selective" immigration, and with great success.

It's theory is not charity, but helpfulness. If a Jewish family in this country wants to send for a relative it turns the money over to "Hias". The sum is transmitted to the person for whom it is intended, without expense, except for the cable message.

The organization's international banking system transmitted nearly thirteen million dollars this way from January, 1920, to June 30, 1922, and paid the money in greenbacks. There are no exchange tolls.

"Hias'" headquarters at the old Astor Library are a model of cleanliness, efficiency and cheerfulness.

The organization recognizes and maintains the traditions and rites of the orthodox Jewish religion. The line is carefully drawn between the immigrant and the "wayfarer," who are kept apart for obvious reasons. Immigrants are taught that America is the land of opportunity—the wayfarer does not always bear out this preachment. There are separate entrances, dining rooms and sleeping quarters. Jewish dietary rules also are observed. Separate kitchens are maintained for the meats, dairy products and vegetables. Meat and milk are never cooked together—never even prepared in the same room.

A storeroom is kept where immigrants may get hats, suits, shoes, underwear—if they need them gratis.

The "wayfarer's" dining room is open to all, regardless of creed, color or religion—and all kinds patronize it.

The organization is maintained by popular subscription. Just now there is a campaign afoot for a $500,000 fund. The executives, doctors and dentists all donate their services.

BRIEF MESSAGE TO PARENTS TELLS OF BOY'S DEATH IN WEST

Carroll Lane, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lane, of High Street, died in or near Belle Fourche, South Dakota, Friday, according to a brief message received by his parents Saturday night.

The telegram received bore the brief information that Carroll had died Friday, containing no particulars relating to the cause of his death. It was signed by C. P. Chapman, of Bell Fourche, whom relatives believe must be an undertaker at that place.

Carroll had been working in the harvest fields in the west, employed on a ranch near Spearfish until recently, and according to word received by relatives here had started to return home. No further word was received by his family, and they have no knowledge of whether he became ill or whether his death was due to an accident. Several wires directed to Chapman have not been answered.

Carroll and Leroy Stephens, also of this city, left here in June on a trip of adventure, working their way through the west. They had kept relatives informed of their whereabouts by letters. Carroll had been employed by a rancher near Spearfish, S. Dakota where he helped during the harvest season. Relatives of the Stephens boy received a letter from him stating that Carroll had started home. With the end of the harvest season at hand, members of his family also expected that he would be returning soon. Belle Fourche is about 35 or 40 miles from where he had been employed.

Carroll attended the public schools here and also Central High School, where last year he was a member of the football squad. Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lane, there are two sisters, Misses Violet and Catherine and two brothers Myron and Forest surviving.

Why This Dish

Why do millions of mothers hold their children's days on oats?

Because oats form the premier food.

Their energy value is 1810 calories per pound.

They supply 16 elements which growing children need.

They are rich in minerals.

They supply the whole-grain vitamines.

Why do we make a special grade and call them Mother's Oats?

And why do so many mothers serve them?

Because oats differ in flavor. Some are delicious, some are not.

Mothers want the flavor of oats, so we pick them out and flake them.

If you want to make the oat dish welcome, always serve Mother's Oats.

HARDING INTERESTED IN THE OHIO CAMPAIGN.

President Harding would have to be other than human not to wish the Republican Party a victory in the senatorial contest in his own State this year. Being intensely human, the President is taking a deep personal interest in the battle between Representative Fess and Senator Pomerene, the Democratic incumbent.

Brown, has assumed a Fochian role in the Ohio campaign. With a sort of "go as far as you like" commission, Mr. Brown has proceeded to skim the cream off the Republican oratorical bucket and proposes feeding it to Ohioans in big doses.

Cabinet members have learned they were drafted and dates assigned them. When they demurred, a smiling personal request from the President has brought them into line. The result will be Republican meetings in Ohio will have celebrities galore.

The President and Chairman Adams have every reason to be pleased with the trend of the campaign in Ohio. Reports reaching them indicate a Fess-Thompson victory. The Republicans are reported as having made great strides to overcome the personal popularity of Senator Pomerene, and the Democrats have done many things to muddy the waters for the Senator.

THE "BIG FOUR" ENDS.

W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, announces in Cleveland the beginning of the end of the Rail Brotherhood's "Big Four." Their working and strike-threat alliance is being dissolved.

This is big railroad news, big labor news and big news to the Nation. It will end the menace of a general rail strike that has hung over this country since the fall of 1915, came dangerously near in October, 1921, and threatened again in August of this year.

The trainmen and conductors will go it alone. The engineers and firemen will, perform, do the same. That means the ringing down of the curtain on any nation-wide strike.

President Lee sees a little further into the future than some of his brethren and realizes that unionism has been drifting straight toward a head-on collision with the public. The situation was getting out of control of the unions and the executives. As President Lee says:

This whole business, with all railroad labor on one side, all the railroads on the other and the Railroad Labor Board in between, got too big for one man or a few men to handle. It was loaded with dynamite for the country as well as for ourselves and the executives. * * * A nation-wide rail strike is not possible today. It costs the railroads and the unions which indulge in it more than they can afford to lose. The shopmen's strike proved that. When a strike gets so big that it cannot be controlled then the government will step in and control it. This results in legislation detrimental to all concerned. * * * No sane government would permit any faction or class to paralyze the transportation business, and thereby punish the innocent, who are always in the majority.

LIGHTER CARS SUCCESS, ELECTRIC ROAD PROVES.

Some months ago Henry Ford asserted that one of the big reasons why the railroads of the United States are not making money is the heavy weight of rolling stock as compared to the carrying capacity. He said freight rolling stock could be reduced to one-third of the weight and passenger cars to much less.

So far nothing has been done by steam roads along these lines, but one Ohio electric interurban road has pioneered in lighter passenger cars and has found them a distinct success. It is the Western Ohio Railway Company, operating between Findlay and Piqua, 113 miles.

The line has recently replaced old heavy high-speed cars with a new type of less than half the weight, made by the J. G. Brill Company, Philadelphia. Ten cars are in operation. It is estimated that the road will have $90,000 more in the treasury this year because of the use of the lighter weight cars.

The new car is said to ride easier than the old heavy car. It attains speed more quickly and, therefore, makes the run more rapidly. The lighter weight makes it easy on the tracks and easier on itself. The decrease in weight was obtained through the use of the finest of steel pressed framework, and through other economies. The car, seating forty-eight persons, weighs 32,462 pounds, which is about 676 pounds a passenger. Ordinary high-speed interurban cars weigh as much as 1,500 pounds or more to the passenger.

THE CREDIT OF COURAGE.

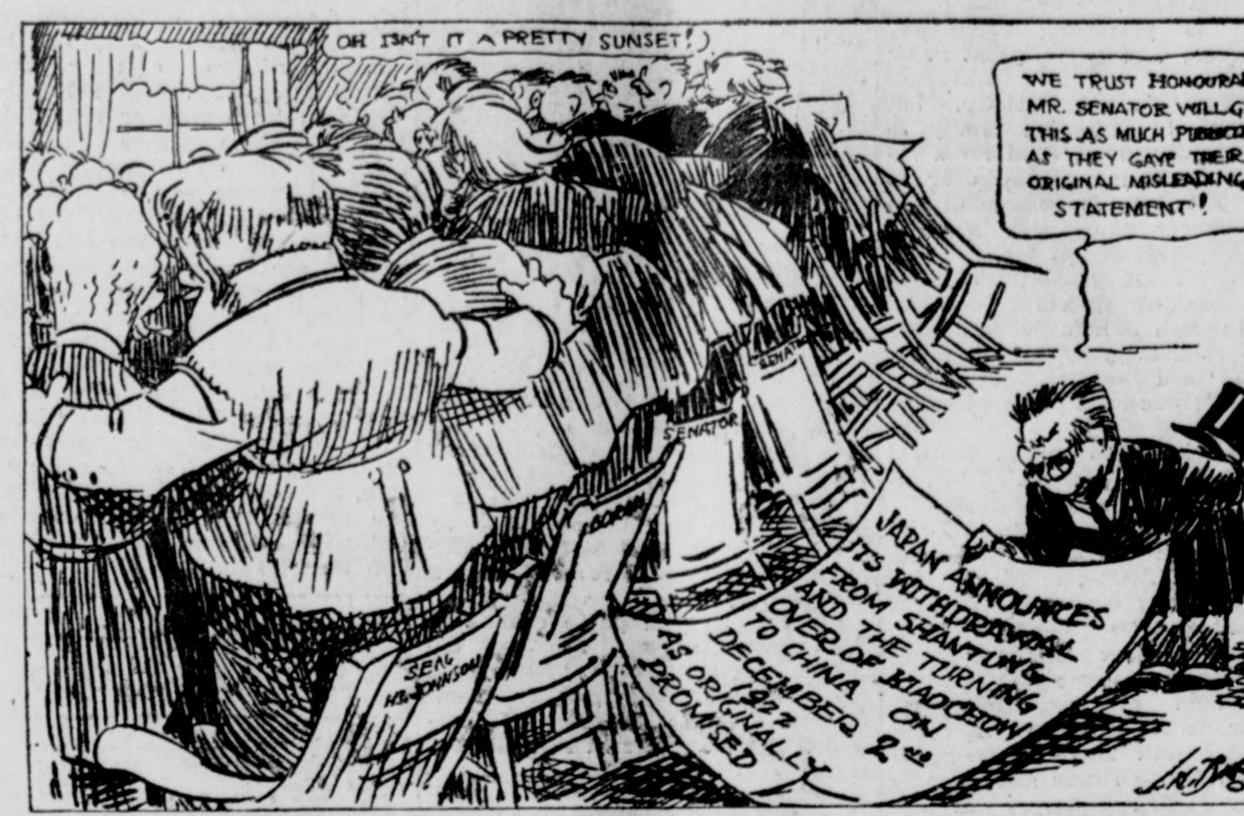

More than once, for one reason or another, some soldier's identity or battle record has been challenged and there has been no way to settle the question. The veterans of the greatest war are to be protected from such uncertainty, according to plans just made in Washington.

A Battle Participation Board has been constituted for this purpose. Its duty is the reviewing of the record of every outfit which went into service over seas. Exactly what part each division took in activities against the Germans will be determined, together with the names of the men enrolled in the division. The final records will be carefully preserved at Washington.

This move will be a matter of protection to the service man and to his family and descendants. It will be especially valuable if, in case of the final failure of any federal bonus plan, the pension system should be invoked later for World War veterans. There are veterans and their dependents of former wars who have had the greatest difficulty in obtaining pensions to which they were entitled because the record of service was indefinite or lost entirely. Action to prevent such contingencies in the future is a duty of the national government.

Treasury experts estimate that the new tariff act will yield approximately $400,000,000 a year in revenue, one-half coming from sugar, tobacco, raw wool and laces and embroideries.

One reason for this is that you can exercise the neck and you cannot exercise the face, you can feed the tissues of the neck with cocoa butter which the complexion could not stand. You can give the neck far more vigorous massage than the face would bear.

No matter what your trouble is, begin the treatment by scrubbing the neck with warm water, a mild soap and a moderately stiff bristled flesh brush. This opens and cleanses the pores of the skin but more than this, it stimulates and invigorates the muscles by bringing up to them a fresh supply of blood. The pores being opened the rest of the treatment is more effective. Cocoa butter or flesh building cream should now be massaged in if the neck is old or wrinkled; otherwise cleansing cream

AMERICAN LEGION TEAM WALLOPED BY EAGLES OF DAYTON

The Dayton Eagles may not have as strong a football team as they boasted in former years, but even with their backfield shifted, they were sweet enough to wallop the Xenia American Legion eleven at Washington St. Park, Sunday afternoon, 25 to 0.

A fast backfield with an ability to run the ends for big gains, proved the most successful form of attack for the visitors, and they hung up long dashes on daring around end plays that reached the Xenia secondary defense before they were stopped. On the other hand, the visitors, generally rated as expert exponents of the over-head game, resorted to this form of attack frequently but we're only successful once.

The local secondary defense was able to smash up the aerial game on practically every time it was attempted, with the result that the visitors only completed one pass for a 30-yard gain, out of 11 attempted. The visitors however, negotiated 11 first downs, principally on around-end plays, with "Cleet" Sillen sparkling in this form of attack. Xenia was able to pick up two first downs, both of them through the successful completion of two passes that worked out of ten attempted. A pass, Stephens to Fuller for 40 yards once, and just before the game ended, Stephens passed one to Al Houk, for a gain of 25 yards.

Had the Legion had an organized offensive, it would have undoubtedly have made things interesting for the Eagles aggregation. As it was the locals were forced to depend on a defensive and punting game. "Tuffy" Fuller at half played his usual hang-up game at his position, and near the close of the first half came within a few yards of scoring for his team, when he intercepted a pass and ran 75 yards to within a few yards of the goal, where he was dragged down as the half-ended. The play was the most sensational of the day.

There is an answer for the reason the fleet-footed Eagle backs could not gain through the line. The Burton brothers at the tackles were stopping things coming their way as usual while Big Tullis, Baker, Harry Walker and McCoy were handling things in the center of the line. Houk at end sparked with many pretty tackles, as did Harner on defensive half. W. Leahy was off-color in the backfield with a Charley Horse that forced him to the sidelines, but his brother, F. Leahy, Horen and Milburn played well. Stephens starred at his usual passing game, while Eddie Thomas was in every play backing up the line.

"Cleet" Sillen, Drummer and Friend distinguished themselves in the visitors' backfield, while Bonadio, Schwab and Arntz on the line and Moll at end, played well. The visitors attempted a pass early in the first quarter that landed in the end zone. Fuller punted from the 20 to Drummer on Xenia's 46. "Cleet" Sillen got two, and Drummer dashed around end for 14. "Cleet" repeated for 20 around the other end and then scored from the ten-yard line, after Friend had failed to gain. Moll missed an attempted place kick.

There was no scoring in the second period, Crouse and Fuller intercepting passes in that stanza that took the backbone out of the Dayton team's attack. Shortly after the second half opened, Bergen ran the world.

ends for ten and then Moll punted into end zone. Stephens punted to the visitors on Xenia's 43 yard line. Bergman made seven and "Cleet" Sillen 20. Bergman fumbled on the next play, but Bondo recovered the ball for an 11 yard gain. The Sillen brothers picked up eight and then F. Sillen scored. Moll attempted a pass into the end zone to "Cleet" Sillen for the extra point, but it failed.

Shortly after the kickoff, Stephens passed to Fuller for 40 yards, and he was down on Dayton's 23. A pass was blocked and then Frank Sillen intercepted a pass on the goal line and ran 50 before he was dragged down. After making two first downs F. Sillen attempted a drop kick that Fuller caught on Xenia's own ten. Worman intercepted a Xenia pass however, and then Bergman passed 30 yards to Mill who was downed on Xenia's 8. Friend made the touch down off tackle, and Moll drop kicked the extra point.

Thomas received the kickoff and returned it 20-yards but on the first play Frank Sillen intercepted a Xenia pass on Xenia's 35 and ran for the last touchdown, Moll missing an attempted dropkick. Stephen's pass to Houk for 25 yards came as the game ended.

RECORDS SMASHED IN PULITZER RACE AT MICHIGAN FIELD

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Oct. 16.—Preparations were underway today to demobilize the greatest fleet of airplanes ever assembled on one field in America, that brought to Selfridge Field for the national air meet, which closed Saturday with the Pulitzer trophy race.

More than 200 machines were parked at the army flying station the final day of the races. They were valued at $1,600,000. The meet in the opinion of army and navy aero heads was one of the most successful ever conducted, and marked wonderful advancement in aeronautics in this country. Technical data assembled during the races will be of great assistance to builders of both commercial and fighting planes.

More records were shattered Saturday than in any previous race, all the world speed records for competition being surpassed by Pulitzer contenders.

The official world speed record set by Sadi Lecointe in France a few weeks ago was among the first to fall. On the first lap of 30 miles Lieutenant L. J. Maitland, of Bolling Field, Anacostia, D. C., averaged 216.1 miles an hour.

The Frenchman's 216 miles an hour was over one-kilometer straightaway while Maitland's feat was on a closed course, and for a much greater distance.

Later in the race Maitland had trouble with his engine on the 120-degree turns and his average for the 156 miles covered was 203 miles an hour. The world competition records for 50, 100 and 200 kilometers were shattered by half a dozen of the contenders. Among these was Lieutenant R. L. Maughan, winner of the Pulitzer trophy, who also broke the closed course record of a little more than 179 miles in an hour set by George Kirsch, in France, last September. Maughan's speed was 200 miles an hour.

Apprehension of army and navy officials that the terrific speed would be too much for human endurance proved to be without basis, although Lieutenant Maughan was whirled into unconsciousness once as he made a 120-degree turn. The pilot was "out" three or four seconds while his plane shot through the air for a distance of several city blocks.

This experience, however, was believed to be due to the daring manner in which Maughan took the turns. His pylon work was said by a number of officials to be the most spectacular they had ever witnessed. On each turn the pilot traveling at tremendous speed pulled his machine sheer up, completing the turn upside down.

BRAND APPEARS
WIT G. O. P. SPEAKERS
IN XENIA SATURDAY

Charles Brand, of Urbana, Republican candidate for Congress from the Seventh Congressional District, was in Xenia Saturday, where he met the delegation of speakers headed by Carmi A. Thompson, gubernatorial candidate, who opened the fall campaign here.

Mr. Brand was scheduled to accompany the party on the trip around the county but was ill and did not arrive in time for the afternoon meeting here, taking part in the program at City Hall Theater. Because the state campaign committee has delegated him to speak in other parts of the state, he will only spend about half of his time campaigning in this district, he said Saturday.

Other candidates who were here for the meeting Saturday were Thad Brown of Columbus, candidate for Secretary of State and Frank L. Brown, of Dayton, spoke at the meeting Saturday afternoon with Mr. Thompson and J. Adam Bede, Congressman from Minnesota. The speakers were introduced by F. L. Smith, Chairman of the Republican Central Committee.

The entire party were guests for dinner at the O. S. and S. O. Home Saturday evening.

WILLIAM J. HOOK DIES ON SUNDAY

William Josephus Hook, 80, former Xenian, died at the Masonic Home at Springfield, where he had been an inmate for the past two years. Sunday morning about nine o'clock. Mr. Hook had been in good health until the past two weeks, death resulting from the infirmities of age. Two weeks ago he visited his sister, Mrs. Nettie Herritt at Columbus, when he appeared in his usual good health, being taken ill a short time later.

Mr. Hook was born in Greene County, near Xenia, and had spent many years of his life in this vicinity. For thirty years, he made his home in Van Wert, Ohio, with relatives. With the exception of his sister, Mrs. Herritt of Columbus, no near relatives survive. Four cousins, T. H. Bell, and Thomas Hook, of Xenia, and Mrs. Emery Beal and Mrs. John Fudge, of near Xenia, are cousins of the deceased.

The body was brought from Springfield Monday and taken in charge by J. H. Whitmer, of the Whitmer Undertaking Establishment. Funeral services will be held from the Whitmer parlors, Tuesday morning at ten o'clock and will be brief. Burial will be made in Woodland Cemetery.

FORMER GERMAN
RULER AND SON ILL

Amsterdam, Oct. 16.—Both the ex-Kaiser and the former German crown Prince were reported ill today. Word from Doorn said that the ex-emperor's condition is not serious and that members of his household believe that his illness will not interfere with his marriage plans. The ex-crown prince is in more serious condition. He is reported to be threatened with serious lung trouble, due to the damp climate on Wieringen Island, his place of exile.

ONLY ONE SET BACK MARKS FOOTBALL GAME SATURDAY

Practically only one big set-back marked the games in Ohio Conference football Saturday.

The big set-back was when the championship aspirations of the Denison eleven were severely damped by the Baptists' 7 to 0 defeat at the hands of Ohio University. After Denison's 14 to 3 victory over Wilmington last week, followers of Livingston's team believed that it would take a wide swathe in the Conference race this fall.

The defeat of Wilmington was sufficiently impressive to make that hope excusable, for the Quakers had been going strong in holding Butler to 6 to 0 and Detroit to 7 to 0 scores. Butler proved its strength again Saturday by defeating Illinois 10 to 7, although followers of the two teams were not surprised at the lack of strength shown by Juppke's eleven.

Other games in the Conference went according to the dope. Ohio Wesleyan, after holding State to a 5 to 0, while Miami, playing its first Northern 14 to 0, in spite of the fact that the Ada school boasts a strong eleven this year, Wooster continued to show form in defeating Case 27 to 0, while Miami, playing its first game of the season, walloped Akron 20 to 12. Because Cincinnati has not played any conference games this season, the strength of the Bearcats cannot be determined, but it is believed that Wesleyan, Wooster, Miami, and possibly Wittenberg will again fight it out for honors, while St. Xavier's win over Dayton indicates that the other Cincinnati Conference eleven will have to be given consideration.

In the Western Conference Oberlin showed surprising strength in holding Ohio State to a 14 to 0 score. Wittenberg had an easy mark in Western Reserve, defeating the Cleveland eleven 33 to 6. Otterbein ran away with the already eliminated Muskingum eleven 26 to 7. Kenyon defeated Hiram 28 to 0, while Mt. Union broke its losing streak with a 15 to 0 win over Hidelberg.

In non-Conference games, Wilming-ton had an easy time with the weak Transylvania eleven from Lexington, Ky., winning 58 to 0, while Marietta snatched a 7 to 0 victory from Marshall and Ashland defeated Kent Normal 14 to 0. Iowa's defeat of Yale in the big intersectional match of the day, proved that the Hawkeyes are again to be considered as a Big Ten champion repeater, and they will be watched in future games. Probably the most interesting Western Conference match in this section however, is the Ohio State-Michigan fracas at Columbus, which will have a big bearing on the trend of Big Ten foot-

Perpetual Motion Machine Made?

F.G. Harmon

Scientists are paying much attention to a machine perfected by F.G. Harmon, students at Boston School of Technology, which may have solved the problem of perpetual motion. Water dropping from a reservoir turns a pelton wheel, which operates a centrifugal pump which sends the water back to the reservoir.

In the east, Harvard is pointing itself for its combat with Centra, while eastern fans are recovering from the shock of Iowa's victory over Yale. The "Praying Colonels" do not appear to have as strong a team as formerly, for they were forced to extend themselves to defeat Virginia Poly 10 to 6, in the latter part of the game, although they walloped the same team 14 to 0 last year. Two of Centra's star players were on the sidelines however, and Harvard will take no chances with the Kentucky team in the Saturday game.

Local interest was the Cedarville-Rio Grande game at Cedarville, which resulted in a 19 to 0 defeat for Cedarville, its third of the season, and the St. Xavier University of Dayton combat, in which Dayton lost its first game of the season to the strong Cincinnati eleven at Cincinnati.

In independent circles, the Dayton Triangles defeated the Minneapolis

Marines at Dayton Sunday, 17 to 0, while the Xenia Legion team lost to the Dayton Eagles 25 to 0 here. The West Carrollton Tritons, which team will be met by the Legion next Sunday, defeated the Hamilton Athletic Club 14 to 0.

Company of this city was seized Sunday by U. S. officers and is held pending disposal of charges that the firm has been selling packages whose weight was in excess of that called for on the revenue stamp which they bore.

The government's action followed complaint made by a competitor of the Peace company and was characterized by the president of that firm as "a piece of spite work." This officer said that if the package were overweight they had been made so unintentionally or through absorption of moisture from the air. His company made an effort to settle with the government by paying the alleged surplus taxes due when the case first came up several days ago, but this suggestion was not acted upon.

We Must Carry On

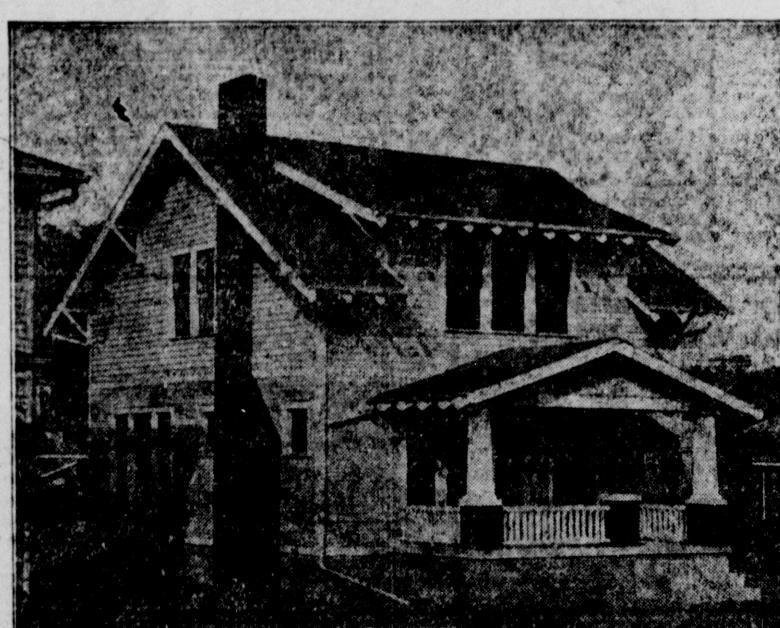

Ohio Wesleyan is a fountain of good from which a perpetual stream of national influence has flowed for eighty years. Our forefathers, stalwart Methodist pioneers, opened this fountain in 1842 to develop in the youths of their day scholarly minds and strong characters. Today we are face to face with the responsibility of carrying on the education and character building work that they started.

Ours is a responsibility to the State, the Nation, the World; to God and Humanity—a responsibility that can only be discharged by such practical means as the development of a larger and properly paid faculty; more and better equipped buildings; a more extensive campus, and many other requirements so necessary to continue Ohio Wesleyan's eighty years' record of producing strong, upstanding, God-fearing men and women.

Robert L. Colling returned Sunday from Hookstown, Pa., where he attended the funeral services for his cousin, William Leeper, who was killed in an oil explosion at the oil well on the Leeper farm, near Hookstown, Wednesday.

Mr. Collins, mother, Mrs. Mary L. Collins, of North Detroit Street, who also attended the funeral did not return and will remain in Hookstown indefinitely. Contrary to original reports, it was Mrs. Collins' nephew and not her brother, who was killed in the explosion. Her brother, Hugh Leeper, father of William Leeper, was severely burned about the face, hands and arms in the accident that cost his son's life.

The explosion occurred when the men were welding a crude oil tank. Mr. Leeper Sr., is expected to recover from the burns. Funeral services for his son were held Saturday.

Regular meeting of Triumph Temple Pythian Sisters will be held at K. P. Hall, Tuesday, Oct. 17, 7:30 p. m. Secy.

Thirty Doctors Ignored

Call for Help.

When she suffered a brain hemorrhage the husband of Mrs. Helen Goncalves, of Burlington, Mass., telephoned to thirty doctors before he could get one who would respond. She died before he arrived, and the police are threatening to arrest the physicians who refused to respond.

The two new attractive homes erected on North Detroit Street by C. A. Kelble will be lighted up Monday evening, it is announced.

The new houses, will be placed on sale by Mr. Kelble Tuesday and Wednesday, and they will be open for the inspection of the public on the afternoons and evenings of these days.

The new homes are a distinct addition to what was formerly known as the Ormsby addition, before it was built up and their modern appointments are expected to draw many callers when they are open.

If not sold in the two days they will be offered, they will be withdrawn from the market, according to Mr. Kelble.

VIVID PICTURE OF ALASKA PAINTED BY W. A. THOMAS

Painting a vivid picture of far-off Alaska, with its terrible cold, its fur-clad Esquimaux, its long, lonely ice-bound trails and the ambitious attempt of missionaries to raise the standard of living conditions among a people who battle with the elements for their existence, the Rev. W. A. Thomas, former pastor of Christ Episcopal Church, this city, lectured on his work as a missionary of the Episcopal Church before an audience that filled every available place of the Parish here Sunday evening.

Stereoptican slides of pictures taken by himself, and which portrayed the country and its people constituted the background of the talk and illustrated the speaker's opening remarks in which he said, "it would be hard not to return to continue my work among the people of Alaska."

Mr. Thomas is located at Pt. Hope, the farthest north mission maintained by the Episcopal Church. Here with Mrs. Thomas, the missionary carries on his work among the Esquimaux, scattered over thousands of miles along the Alaskan coast where few white people live. Explaining the nature of the work among these people Mr. Thomas carried the audience on the long dog sled trip to Pt. Hope, over the rough, ice trails and into the igloos of the Esquimaux. His pictures showed the people at work and play, gave the audience an insight into that vast barren country, depicted the method of house construction, transportation, and the industries of the land, hunting and fishing.

Here was a picture of a group of smiling school children of the mission school, and here the council of the village of Pt. Hope, while the women, engaged in work and play, were also evident. Mrs. Thomas, who aids her husband in caring for the physical needs of the people and instructing them in health and sanitary conditions was also on the screen holding a polar bear cub in her arms.

Whale hunting is one of the chief industries of the country, Mr. Thomas pointed out and he showed the method of killing the animal. As the whale has a very sensitive hearing, it is necessary during the hunting season to snare ducks and wild geese, when they are wanted, by means of a weapon resembling in some respects a sling shot. This ingenious apparatus consists of strings weighted with bone, which guided by a feather at the common end, entangles the wings of the birds when thrown from the hand, said the speaker.

The pictures served to upset some of the pre-conceived ideas of conditions in the far north, especially those that the Esquimaux live in ice houses. Snow houses are common. Mr. Thomas said, but they do not form the permanent dwelling, which is of sod five to seven feet thick. This is entered through a snow house made of solid blocks of snow. Attempts to induce the Esquimaux to live in the white man's house have not proven entirely successful, said Mr. Thomas, as it is difficult to make such a house weatherproof. However, a compromise dwelling, which is built extremely low so as to permit of entire covering by snow blocks, has been used successfully.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas and their infant son will leave Seattle in March on their way back to Alaska, after a year's leave of absence during which time Mr. Thomas has been lecturing on that country. They will hit the trail in May, arriving in Pt. Hope in July, where they will take up the work they have left off for another five years.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it takes them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by making the well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap, but gives you prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

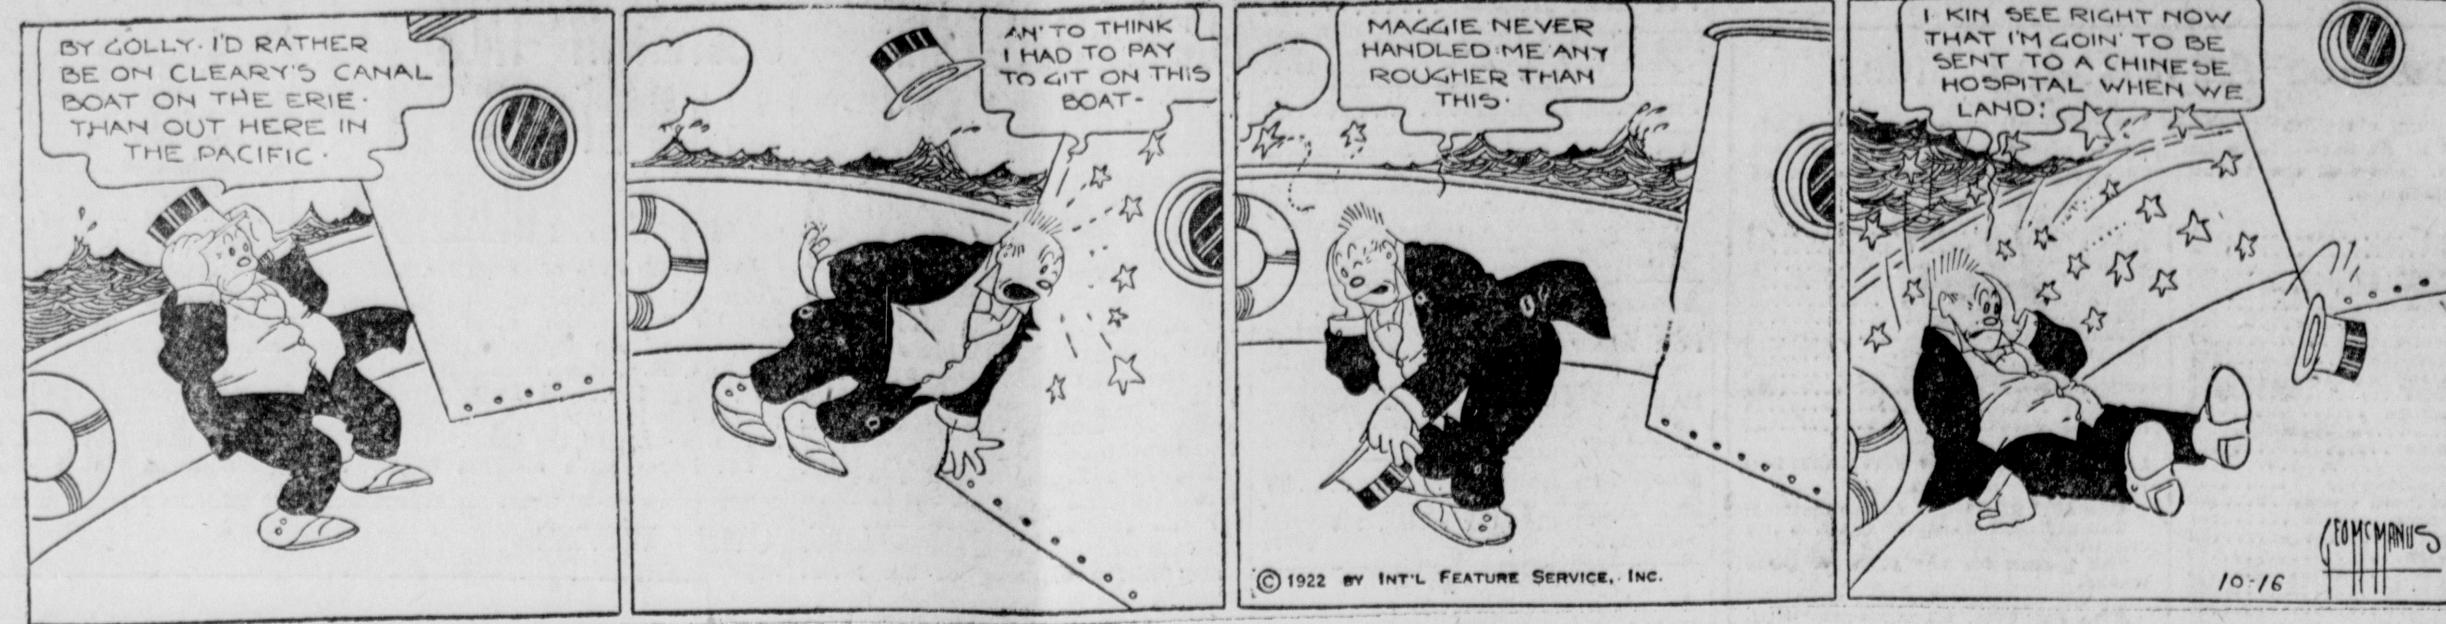

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely kills the annoying throat tickle and dries out the lungs entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic cough, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Add three-quarters cup of milk and one cup of flour, sifted, with one teaspoon of baking powder, beat for two minutes and pour batter over peaches. Bake until batter is done.

Beat up whites of eggs to a stiff froth, then add two tablespoons of sugar, beat again, spread this over the baked peaches and return to oven to brown lightly. Serve hot or cold, with or without cream.

TESTED RECIPES

Date Custard—One pint milk, one cup dates, half tablespoon cornstarch, half cup boiling water, one-third cup sugar, two egg yolks, juice one lemon, speak salt, two egg whites and two tablespoons powdered sugar.

Scald the milk in a double boiler. Mix the dry ingredients with the egg yolks, gradually pour over the scalded milk. Return the entire mixture to the double boiler and cook until it thickens sufficiently to coat the spoon. Wash, stone and cut the dates in small pieces. Put in double boiler, add the scalding water and juice of the half lemon, sugar and cook until dates become soft. Combine the two mixtures and chill. Just before serving prepare a meringue of the egg whites, powdered sugar and the remainder of the lemon; pile the spoonfuls over the custard.

Fried Cabbage—One head of cabbage chopped fine, one cup of good bacon grease, one or one-half pint of boiling water, salt to suit the taste, one teaspoon of soda, two teaspoons sugar, one-half pod of red pepper. Fry in skillet, stir occasionally until brown.

SUGGESTIONS

If milk bottles are first washed in cold water and then hot they will be much cleaner.

Freshly cooked rice or steamed cold rice makes a most palatable addition to brown gravy.

Press two glass top thumb-tacks into the back of the frame of each of your pictures near to the bottom and you will have no more scratch-ed walls or marred paper.

WATER SUPPLY FOR WILMINGTON FOUND

That there is an immense gravel bed, lying between Jamesport and Wilmington and containing sufficient water to supply all of the demand Wilmington will ever have, is the report of geologists who have been working for the Dayton Power & Light Company in an effort to furnish the Clinton County metropolis with an abundant water supply.

The present water supply has been inadequate for several years, necessitating restrictions on its use during the summer months. The Dayton Power and Light Company owns the water works, but efforts to find a new water supply near the city were frustrated by the hard rock formations, until geologists found the water bearing gravel.

The gravel deposit is believed to be 15 miles or more in length and geologists say it contains an inexhaustable supply.

Chapters From A Woman's Life

BY JANE PHELPS

Chapter 1.

When I became Walter Page's wife it seemed to me no one could be or ever was, as happy as I. Walter was an artist who already had made something of a name for himself, although he was not quite 30 years old. His income was a comfortable one. It would give us all the comforts and some of the luxuries of life. He was handsome, gay, debonair and—irresistible. Beauty in any form appealed to him—feminine beauty perhaps most of all, and, if not simply portraits, most of his pictures contained female figures.

"Don't ever worry about that Father. Why I'm the happiest girl in the world" was my answer and I was.

I was an only child. My girlhood had been a happy one. We were comfortably off I had pretty clothes, and could entertain my friends. Father was a physician, a "country doctor" he called himself when either mother or I scolded him for going out in all weathers, at all hours to, look after people from whom he could expect no fee.

"We'd be rich if your patients paid you" I would grumble.

"I am rich in their thanks and the knowledge that I have helped them," he would reply. "They haven't any money to give me. I'll have to tuck on a few dollars to some of the bills of those who can afford to pay if you are hinting for a new dress.

When I was married mother gave me a very nice, wardrobe, father joking me about how much they would save when they no longer had me to dress. But, I caught him wiping his glasses after he spoke and knew he was sad at the thought of losing me. But while I loved them both dearly, nothing could dampen my joy in becoming Walters wife.

I was rather pleased when he told me he had but few relatives and that they lived in the far West. His father had passed away and his mother lived with a niece. I would have him all to myself.

"Mother seldom comes East, she dislikes to travel. But I shall tell her she must come and get acquainted with her new daughter," he told me.

Upon our arrival in New York we went to a small hotel until we—or Father, until Walter could select the furniture for our apartment. He laughingly told me I wasn't the "willies" if his home wasn't attractive.

"Like as not I'd stay away," he said lightly.

"I wouldn't care if it was the ugliest place in the world if you were there!" I returned.

"Well I would! So you'd better let me select the hangings and such things. You go ahead with the essentials, the kitchen stuff and all that." This I did happily, not realizing that perhaps this was the place I would take in life—relegated to essentials.

Gone Out of Business

THERE is an old Latin adage which says, "Caveat Emptor." Translated, it means, "Let the buyer beware."

It put the burden of seeing that one got his money's worth on the purchaser. It warned him to enter a shop with his eyes wide open, to have faith in no one, to keep his fingers crossed and then trust to Providence that he didn't lose his eye teeth in the bargain.

Advertising has put "Caveat Emptor" out of business.

Today, merchants and manufacturers can't afford to risk the disappointment and disapproval of a dissatisfied customer. It is too easy for the customer to pick up a paper and find plenty of other places where real dollar value is given and where they practice the modern slogan, "We strive to please."

The good will of the buying public is the goal of the modern seller. Without it, his business cannot succeed.

Every time he advertises he puts his good name in your hands. His products must make good. They must be as advertised.

That's why it pays to read the advertisements and to buy advertised goods.

It's a good business policy
